OIL MEN STILL DINE TOGETHER AT STANDARD OFFICE

Secretary Veit Testifies in Waters Pierce Case Rockefeller and Heads of Former Subsidiaries Meet at 26 Broadway and Joke as in Former Years.

DECLARES BUSINESS IS NOT DISCUSSED

Untermeyer, Counsel for St. Louisans, Declares This Testimony Shows Sham and Humbug of the Trust's Dissolution.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—In a dining-room at 26 Broadway and at the same table where the heads of the Standard Oil planned and discussed the affairs of the trust in years gone by, there met today at luncheon now the men who directed the affairs of the company. So declared Richard C. Veit, secretary of the Standard Oil Co. of New York, testifying today before a referee in the Waters Pierce-Standard Oil litigation.

"Who meets there?" inquired Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for the Waters Pierce interests.

"I don't know all of them."

"Does John D. Archibald still sit at that table?"

"Yes."

"Does Percy Rockefeller?"

"Yes."

Rockefellers There, Too.

Similar questions elicited the information that others who sat at the "big table" were John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, J. A. Moffett, A. C. Bedford, H. C. Folger Jr., C. M. Pratt, Walter Jennings, W. C. Teagle, M. K. Elliott and others, who were formerly officers or directors of the former subsidiaries.

"Don't these discuss their business there daily?"

"No."

"You hear them talking, don't you?"

"Yes, they are in generalities. I hear them laughing and joking."

"How long have you been listening to them as they talked and joked and laughed?"

"Since last December."

Humbug, Says Untermeyer.

This line of questioning met with vigorous objections by D. N. Kirby, the Standard's lawyer, and Untermeyer dictated this statement in reply for the record.

"The purpose of this questioning is to show the sham and humbug with which these people, who have been segregated from these various companies, meet here daily for the transaction of their business just as they met every day in years gone by."

Veit added that the late H. H. Rogers sat at this table and that the Rockefeller family always took luncheon there whenever they were in town.

"Prior to the dissolution of the trust last December," Veit said, "the officers of Standard Oil subsidiaries continually conferred with me and the managers of other subsidiary companies. I also conferred with other managers regarding the situation. Since the dissolution this has been stopped absolutely."

Since the dissolution, Veit added, both New York and New Jersey companies have begun the construction of fleets of oil tankers to compete for trade.

"The vessels were under construction by the New York company, he said, and the New Jersey company was building a fleet in Germany."

EXPRESS ROBBERS IN FLORIDA TAKE $70,000 FROM CAR

Louisville & Nashville Employees' Pay, on Way From Pensacola Is Stolen.

By Associated Press.
PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 20.—Seventy thousand dollars was stolen from express packages sent from Pensacola to Louisville and Nashville by train to Flomaton for the payment of employees on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad in that district, it was learned here today.

The robbery, it is reported here, took place Wednesday and railroad detectives believe the money was stolen somewhere between Pensacola and Flomaton.

Efforts were made to keep secret the fact of the theft while officers investigated.

According to the story here, $75,000 in currency was sent from a local bank in sealed packages, which were properly receipted for by express agents and messengers. When delivery was made at Flomaton it is said that only $5000 of the shipment remained. The $70,000 is said to have been extracted and slipped out from magazines substituted.

The shipment consisted principally of bills of small denomination.

PART OF $272,000 BANK LOOT FOUND

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Part of the $272,000 loot robbers got from the Bank of Montreal at New Westminster, B. C., and which was hidden here, has been recovered by Chicago police, according to an admission of Assistant Chief Schuttler today. It was intimated that the amount would run into the thousands in Canadian bills of large denomination.

It is believed the money was hidden by the two thieves who escaped after they had beaten a policeman in unconsciousness when he attempted to arrest them. The robbers, Chief Schuttler believes, are still in Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The Panama Canal will be opened to traffic, Oct. 1, 1913, according to information received at the Navy Department from the canal heads. Officials of the Navy Department would not say whether Col. Goethals or others named the time.

BRIDE SUPPORTING SELF AS AGREED BEFORE MARRIAGE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Carleton Washburn, formerly Miss Heluz Chandler, who was married by a pre-nuptial contract, began her career as a business woman today, according to the specifications of the marriage agreement that she shall be self-supporting and maintain one-half of the expense of home.

According to her plans before her marriage last Sunday she has taken a position in the Co-operative Commonwealth Co., where her husband works, and will do all the illustrating for the magazine, "Daylight," published by the company.

In reply to a report that Mrs. Chandler, the bride's mother, is en route from Philadelphia to visit them, Washburn said: "If she is, it must be to surprise us, as she hasn't let us know. There has always been the most sympathetic union between my wife's mother and ourselves in regard to our marriage and we expected her approval."

Able Seaman Porter went ashore in the ship's cutter and telephoned to police headquarters. Skipper Gillaspie piped all hands on deck and Able Patrolmen Haines, Lambert and Voyce went to the foot of Market street in the Captain's gig, known to landlubbers as the patrol wagon.

The prisoners, Rudolph Stoeberg of 8424 Michigan avenue, Leo Scharfenberg of 317 Chouteau avenue and Emil Kuhlman of 3831 Cass avenue, all stage hands at a downtown theater, denied knowledge of how the ship soured came to be in the launch, Green Tree, which is owned by Stoeberg.

They said they went to the ship on invitation of a sailor named Monroe.

GIRL IS "BEST MAN" AT REALTY MAN'S WEDDING

The story of how a girl was "best man" at the wedding of Oliver J. Grace, secretary of the P. F. Grace & Sons Realty Co., and Miss Rose E. Murphy, a waitress, was revealed Friday. Friends to whom the marriage was a surprise went to Miss Mona Shaughnessy, who was at the wedding, to learn the details.

Miss Shaughnessy was passing Holy Trinity Catholic church, of which she is a parishioner, at 5 p. m. Wednesday, when she observed a marriage was being celebrated inside. She went in out of curiosity. There was an embarrassing halt in the services when it was discovered that the groomsmen was late.

The officiating priest, Father T. V. O'Reilly, invited Miss Shaughnessy to stand up with the party and she took her place at Grace's side.

When the ceremony was over the principal introduced themselves and the bridemaid to Miss Shaughnessy.

Mrs. Grace lived with a sister at 1225 Armstrong avenue. She was a waitress in a department store cafe when the realty man became acquainted with her. She and her sister, who live here from Calcutta, Canada, in 1912.

BOY GAMBLER KILLS HIMSELF OVER HIS LOSSES

He Hoped to Wed on $6 a Week and Lost Money He Saved to Buy Girl's Trousseau.

JOKES, THEN TAKES ACID

Friends Say He Gambled Away Nearly $35 in Four Days in Game on Vacant Lot.

William Tesar, boy gambler, who hoped to get married on $6 a week and lost at craps and pool the money he was saving to buy his bride-elect a trousseau, took carbolic acid at his home, 1038 Shenandoah avenue, at 7:40 a. m. Friday. He died an hour later at the city hospital. He was 17 years old.

In the last four days, according to his boy friends, Tesar had gambled away nearly $35. Most of this money was lost in a game which is said to run nightly on a vacant lot known as "the hill," near Twelfth street and Shenandoah avenue.

Lost $30 in Three Days.

At 3 a. m. Friday, young Tesar met his friend, Edward Tockstein of 1012 Shenandoah avenue, with whom he had been playing pool earlier in the evening. He told Tockstein of his efforts to obtain money to buy a trousseau for his sweetheart, but refused to tell the girl's name. He said that in gambling he had lost $35 Thursday night, $15 Wednesday night and $10.80 Sunday night.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Anna Tesar, and his sister, Christina, say they did not know he had a sweetheart. They say they cannot understand where he got the money with which he gambled, as he had a spending allowance of less than $1 a week.

Boys in the neighborhood say Tesar obtained money by holding out portions of amounts given to him by his mother to pay bills. The mother says that while she has not visited the merchants with whom she deals, she does not believe the boy did this.

Young Tesar worked as a painter for his brother, Charles. Friday he prepared to go to work. He ate breakfast with his mother and sister and three brothers and they remarked that he was unusually gay. He laughed and joked throughout the meal.

After breakfast he asked his mother for a nickel with which to buy tobacco. She gave him a dime. He left the house, saying he would be back in a few minutes.

Bought Acid "For Family."

A few minutes later the boy entered L. E. Hoffman's drug store at 1100 Lami street, handed Hoffman a bottle, and asked for 15 cents worth of carbolic acid.

"What do you want it for?" asked Hoffman.

"O, the family wants to use it," replied the boy.

"Not on your life," replied the boy. Hoffman says the family often bought carbolic acid and therefore he did not hesitate to sell it to the boy.

When the boy returned to the house he was whistling. He went into the parlor. Five minutes later Joseph Koranto, a cousin who was in an adjoining room, heard groans.

Koranto called the boy's mother and sister. They found young Tesar unconscious on a lounge in the parlor. The acid bottle lay near him on the floor.

LAUNCH JOY RIDERS BOARD SHIP LUZON, TAKEN PRISONERS

Three Stagehands Leaving Reserves' Vessel at 4 A. M. Overhauled by Revolver Shots.

THEFT DENIED BY THEM

Champagne Glass, Egg Cup and Two One-Pound Shells Found in Their Craft.

Eight bells had just struck on the Isla de Luzon when landlubbers clocks in the city were announcing the hour of 4 a. m. Friday.

The flagship of the Naval Reserve fleet was riding at anchor off the foot of Market street. Skipper G. A. Dietrich, U. S. N., was in his cabin and Able Seaman J. Porter was on watch.

When, suddenly, a noise was heard! Able Seaman Porter ran to the skipper's cabin as fast as he was able.

"I have to report, sir, that I think, sir, we have been boarded, sir," he reported, after saluting and giving all the naval lodge signs.

Long-Barreled Revolvers Taken.

"Whereaway?" asked Skipper Dietrich.

"By the port quarter, I think, sir."

Taking long-barreled navy revolvers from the gunroom, the skipper and the harbor watch (also) ran on deck.

Peering over the rail on the port side, they saw a gasoline launch drifting away from the ship. In the launch they could make out the forms of three men.

"Launch, there! Hello, the launch!" called the skipper.

An answering shout came back, but the mysterious craft continued to drift with the current.

"Heave to!" cried Skipper Dietrich.

When his command was ignored he cleared for action, leveled his navy revolver and fired a shot across the bow of the stranger.

Launch Goes to Warship.

Five more times the skipper's weapon barked. The man at the launch engine gave a mighty tug at the fly wheel. A chugging sound came over the murky waters. The launch quivered and shot forward. It turned sharply and came toward the battleship.

A few minutes later the launch put in at the landing star of the Isla de Luzon and its three passengers looked up into the barrels of two navy revolvers leveled at them over the rail.

"Prisoners, come aboard," said the skipper.

Not being versed in the proper nautical terms to be used on such occasions the spokesman of the party in the launch replied:

"Skipper, Able Seaman Porter lined three prisoners up on deck and kept them covered with his navy revolver. Skipper Dietrich searched the launch for pirates' loot."

He found a champagne glass, an oyster fork, an egg cup and two one-pound shells—not egg shells, but highly explosive missiles from the ship's magazine.

Next the skipper inspected the ship and found that a locker in the dining room had been forced open and that a champagne glass, an oyster fork and an egg cup were missing.

Without further parley the skipper and the able seaman took the prisoners to the ship's brig, sometimes called the booby-hatch, and locked them behind barred doors.

Just a few minutes later Blanche Irwin, the housekeeper, who occupies Room 1035, awoke and saw the man in her room. When she started to get up, he fled and no trace of him could be found after that.

No report of the burglary was made to the police until 1 p. m. Detectives began an investigation. The thief is described as about 26 years old, smooth-faced, of dark complexion and wearing a neat dark suit.

From room 317, occupied by D. O. Fitzgerald, of Ft. Worth, the burglar got a suit of clothes, two railroad tickets and a bag of $200. From Irving Gerry, of New York City, he got a watch and a chain and a coral stick.

Ethel Barrymore Screams Husband Routs Sneak Thief Makes Haul at Jefferson

POLICEMAN NABS A HIGHWAYMAN IN ACT OF ROBBERY

"Too Many People for Holdup," Says Patrolman to Friend, Then Sees One.

A well-dressed sneak thief visited nine rooms in the Jefferson Hotel before daylight Friday, including the two occupied by Miss Ethel Barrymore, the actress, and her husband, Russell Colt, and escaped with loot amounting to hundreds of dollars in money, checks and jewelry.

The thief awakened Miss Barrymore. She screamed and her husband, chased the burglar out of the suite. Then Mr. and Mrs. Colt locked their doors, according to the police, and made no report of the intruder's visit.

The Colts occupy rooms 627 and 628 and it was 3 a. m., according to the police report, when the burglar fled from their suite. At 3:06 a. m., J. A. Thompson of Chicago was escorted by Fred Werre, a bellboy, to suite 514-919, occupied by Thompson, Owen C. Divine, W. C. Church and Gustava Schwieler, all druggists, from Chicago.

Thompson found the door locked, contrary to his expectations, and heard footsteps in the suite. Supposing one of his three companions was still awake, he knocked on the door. An instant later the thief walked out.

"That man doesn't live in our suite," said Thompson, "where, where, upon the thief fled up the stairs. Werre followed, but was unable to find any trace of the burglar."

Just a few minutes later Blanche Irwin, the housekeeper, who occupies Room 1035, awoke and saw the man in her room. When she started to get up, he fled and no trace of him could be found after that.

LOOPS AND MORE CARS TO BE URGED BY SERVICE BOARD

Public Commission to Report Findings in United Railways Investigation to the Municipal Assembly Within Three Weeks.

Enough Money for Needed Improvement in the System and Dividends—Millions in "Water" in the Corporation's Stock.

Head of North American Admits Need of Betterments, but Says No Action in Near Future Is Likely.

The long awaited report of the Public Service Commission on the United Railways Co. will be ready for the Municipal Assembly within the next three weeks.

The report, as learned by a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday, will treat of all the company's physical resources, of its capitalization and its obligation to the public. It will not recommend a reduction of fares, but will declare that the public needs, and is entitled to, improvements in service. Among the items of the showing will be:

1. More cars are needed on all lines during rush hours. Figures gathered by inspectors are presented to show this.

2. An improved system of downtown loops, to facilitate rush-hour service, is required. Such a system is outlined in detail.

3. The company can make these improvements and still have sufficient earnings left to pay reasonable dividends on all its stock, which represents actual physical valuation. The commission is not concerned with helping the company to pay dividends on its watered stock.

4. The watered stock, as shown by subtracting the physical value of the company's assets from the securities of the company, amounts to several millions.

James Campbell, president of the North American Co., which owns the United Railways Co., told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that he realized the need for certain improvements. He said the company had not the money to make the improvements, and would not be likely to undertake anything in that direction unless it could be secured against attacks on its franchises, and a compromise of the city's mill-tax claim could be effected.

Crowded street cars will be considered in the report. Inspectors have ridden on all lines during the investigation and have made detailed tabulations showing at what hours and on what lines the cars are most crowded. Their figures will show at what points of the line during the rush hours the seats become occupied and at what points the cars become crowded to their full capacity.

The number of passengers per mile carried will be given. The prominent of the company to place sufficient cars in service to eliminate this crowded condition will be contained in the recommendations of the commission.

Watered Stock Loss.

The report will deal with facts and figures based on the actual cost of equipment and physical property of the company. The proper allowance will be made for superannuated equipment, out-of-date apparatus, and "overhead" expense.

The report will be a printed volume of about 500 pages. The plans and tables have been printed and will occupy about 400 pages. The text and recommendations will take up about 100 pages.

The investigation has been in progress for more than a year. The valuation of the physical property and cost of maintenance have been checked up with the books of the company and will be complete.

Universal Transfers.

The question of universal transfers will not be considered in the report. The commission recently published a separate volume on this question and recommended that general transfers be made to all points within the city be given. A suit filed by the city legal department to compel the issuance of universal transfers is now pending in court and is being contested by the United Railways.

The United Railways service system to several cross-town lines so that under some circumstances a transfer will be given on a transfer. The system is yet far short of the universal plan recommended by the Public Service Commission, and does not meet the requirements of the city outlined in its suit.

Jefferson Avenue Line.

A quo warranto suit is pending Judge McQuillin's court in which the city is seeking to cause the United Railways to show by what right it operates cars on the Jefferson avenue line. The city asserts that the franchise of the Jefferson line expired Feb. 1, 1911. The company has filed an answer stating that the Central Traction Co. acquired the franchise.

DETECTIVE POSES AS BUYER, $6000 LOOT RECOVERED

Most of Goods on Wagon Driven Away Found After Sleuth Gets Into Biddle Street Home.

4 HELD, ONE EX-CONVICT

Sleuth Says He Wishes to Purchase and Woman Admits
Him to Fence.

Three detectives of the Police Department, after a 24-hour investigation recovered most of a $6000 consignment of merchandise stolen Wednesday morning when a transfer wagon was driven off from Tenth and Olive streets. Four men are under arrest for a further investigation.

Three of the men were arrested Thursday night. The fourth, Morris Lazarus, was arrested at police headquarters Friday morning when he appeared to give bond for the others.

The merchandise was on a truck of the Mercantile Transfer Co., 1513 North Broadway. Albert Harris, driver of the truck, had left it at the Olive street corner to look for an address. When he returned it was gone.

Chief of Detectives Allender assigned six men to the case. Detectives Hannegan, Boyle and Heckel, one squad, started on the assumption that professional wagon thieves had committed the robbery.

They began looking up the record of Harry Clayton, alias Langueh, alias Parker, known to have participated in such robberies in the past.

They learned he had recently been released from prison. They searched all his old haunts, but were unable to find him. Among his acquaintances they heard of one Emanuel Barnholtz, 29 years old, a tailor at 224 Biddle street. Inquiries revealed that a man resembling Clayton and another man had driven a wagon of the Renegade & Renegade Grocery, Red Bud avenue and Natural Bridge road, to Barnholtz' home that day.

The detectives learned also that Barnholtz' most intimate chum is his employer, Morris Lazarus, 1723 Franklin avenue. They went to the Barnholtz home at 9 p. m. While Boyle and Heckel watched the rear of the place, Hannegan knocked at the front door. A woman, afterwards found to be Mrs. Barnholtz, put her head out of an upstairs window and asked what was wanted.

"Is Emanuel here?" Hannegan asked.

"Manuel who?" the police say the woman replied.

"Why Emanuel Barnholtz?"

"Pretended to buy goods."

The woman said Barnholtz was not here. Hannegan says he told her that he had been sent there to buy some goods by Lazarus. The woman admitted him and took him to a room on the second floor.

In this room the policemen found two boxes of shoes which had been part of the stolen load of merchandise, as well as a small box, small rings used by makers of women's garments. The shoes had been consigned to Rosenbach & Co., Marmad & Jaccard Building.

In an attic the officers found more of the plunder. It was a consignment to the Hyatt Photo Supply Co., 415 North Broadway. While the detectives were searching Barnholtz came in. He was arrested and sent to police headquarters.

Man Found Near Station.

The detectives learned that Clayton and a companion expected to take a night train to Kansas City at the Tower Grove station of the Missouri Pacific. Near the station they found Clayton and a man who said he was John Harrington, 6200 Chapman avenue.

After these men had been sent to the station, the detectives went to Renegade & Renegade's. In a basement they found nine cases of whisky which also had been part of the stolen truck load of goods. The younger Renegade told the detectives he had bought the stuff from Clayton for $47.50.

Loaded Wagon to Clayton.

Renegade said that Clayton and another man brought the truck to his store. After the deal for the whisky he said Clayton asked to borrow his grocery wagon. He consented.

He declares that while the rest of the goods was being transferred from the truck to the grocery wagon Lazarus appeared and took some samples of shoes from boxes on the truck. Clayton drove away in the grocery wagon, returning it empty an hour later, he said. The other man drove the truck away. Renegade said he was not able to say whether Harrington was this other man.

Renegade wept as he talked to Chief Allender. He said he had bought stuff from Clayton several times the last few weeks, but declared he had no idea it was stolen.

Boy With Men.

With Clayton and Harrington when they were arrested was Robert King, a boy with a peg leg. He was taken in custody, but the officers were convinced that he knew nothing of the robbery and his release was ordered.

Clayton, Harrington and Barnholtz were questioned Friday morning by Chief Allender, but refused to make any statement further than to deny that they knew anything about the robbery or how the goods came to be in the Barnholtz home.

The truck and team was found Thursday night at Twenty-second and Olive streets, where they had been abandoned.

The police say that Clayton has served two terms in prison, one of five years to the Missouri penitentiary for burglary and one in the reform school for wagon theft.

franchise renewed its right to operate that division and all other lines until 1948. The suit is scheduled for trial in October.

The street railway company several weeks ago applied to the Board of Public Improvements for permission to change the style of rails on a part of the Jefferson line. The board refused the request on the ground that if such permission be granted it would officially concede that the company had the right to operate the line.

SAYS U. R. HAS NO UPBUILDING FUNDS

James Campbell Hopes for Mill
Tax and Franchise Extension Settlement.

James Campbell, president of the North American Co., frankly admitted to a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that extensive improvements are necessary on the lines of the United Railways Co., and that numerous extensions of the system within the next few years are imperative. The North American controls the street railway corporation through ownership of more than two-thirds of its common stock.

"The North American Co.," said Campbell, "is the operating corporation. It doesn't own a share of the preferred stock or any of the bonds of the United Railways Co. Its sole hope is to re-habilitate the St. Louis line so that eventually they may be put on a sound physical and financial basis."

"At present and for about two years back the preferred stockholders have been without dividends. There is no prospect that payments can be resumed until the company has settled the mill tax litigation and the contention regarding the extension of its franchises."

Mill Tax Decision in Three Years.

"The mill tax controversy has reached the Supreme Court and I am informed by the lawyers that no decision can be expected within three years. It will be recalled that efforts on the part of the United Railways and members of the Municipal Assembly were made last spring, whereby we hoped to compromise the claims of the city against the United Railways Co. The negotiations fell through."

"If the mill tax proposition could be settled amicably to the interests of the city and the company, everybody, I think, will agree that would be the right thing to do."

"The United Railways system cannot be refinanced until the extensions of the franchises, now in dispute, are assured. We realize that improvements and extensions of various character are necessary, but we have not the funds to make them. It has been the policy of President McCulloch to build up the lines as promptly as our resources would permit and I think he has done very well. Certainly the company has tried its best to give the public the best service."

"We are willing that the public interest shall be safeguarded in every way by its present franchisees are renewed. This is a matter, however, for careful legislative action. The United Railways Co. has found it necessary to maintain a surplus to meet all contingent expenses or any possible obligation which it may be required to meet in the future."

"The present universal transfer system is a long step towards meeting the public demands. I am only stating a simple business proposition when I say that no independent company could make money operating an individual street car line here, unless it received a cash fare from every passenger."

"It is the purpose of the management to make the United Railways Co. the greatest street car system in the country. There is no better system in any other city today, in fact, that I know of. But we acknowledge that it is far from perfect."

"The bonds of this company cannot be sold unless the franchisees are absolutely clear and uncontestable. Without refinancing we found it impossible to provide elaborate improvements. But no matter what is done, the company will do the best it can to provide transportation facilities for the people of St. Louis."

WILSON TO SPEAK AT COLISEUM OCT. 4 OR 9

When Democratic National Committee Edward F. Goltz started, Friday, to his home at the Coliseum for Gov. Woodrow Wilson's speech in St. Louis, Oct. 4, he found that the Pure Food Show had engaged the Coliseum for that week, making it necessary either to change the date of Gov. Wilson's appearance or to remove the pure food exhibit for one night.

Goltz said that it was absolutely necessary to have the largest hall in St. Louis for Gov. Wilson's speech, as he expected thousands of Democrats from Missouri and Illinois to come to St. Louis to hear the Democratic candidate for President.

If arrangements are made for Oct. 4, Gov. Wilson will arrive in the morning and spend the entire day here. Unless arrangements can be made for the Coliseum Oct. 9, Goltz said he would move the speech to the Coliseum for Oct. 9. Goltz said he would move the speech to the Coliseum for Oct. 9. Goltz said he would move the speech to the Coliseum for Oct. 9.

Wilson would come, and that as soon as this was definitely determined every body would get busy with a view of making his reception a notable one.

TELLS OF BAITING SHOE STRIKERS SO AS TO BEAT THEM

Strikebreaker Informs Police
Hamilton-Brown Employers
Ordered Badgering.

ROUGH GANGS ORGANIZED

Brought Back, Man Admits Carrying Pistol, Said It Was on Superior's Orders.

Fred Willets, a shoe worker, charged with carrying a concealed weapon, who jumped his bond last July, was brought back from Minn. Colo., Thursday night by Detective Wetzel. In a story told at headquarters he declared Friday that he came here with others to get a job as strike breakers for the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. He said the strike-breakers baited the strikers into outbursts and then beat them.

Willets says he was employed in Lynn, Mass., by a man who advertised in a Boston newspaper for strike-breakers. He was to be paid $12 a week as assistant foreman, and soon he was advanced to foreman, he understood. On his arrival he went to the American Gentleman Factory, and was given a time card, which was punched every day, but he was given no work to do, he said.

The first day he was there, he says, a superintendent, sized him up, commented approvingly on his prowess, and told him there was a gang of union men down in the street who were looking for trouble. He was told to go on down, he says, and see if the union men wanted to mix things. If he got into trouble he says he was told, the company would stand behind him.

Looked for Trouble.

All that he did "he succeeding days, he says, was to look for trouble. One day a foreman told him, he says, that "John the Pole" was down at the Sunlight factory, and they were going to "turn the wharf rats on him," and Willets was told to go down there. John the Pole, he explains, was a union man who had remained at work to do a spy. The foreman had discovered this and had discharged him.

When Willets reached the Sunlight factory, John the Pole had gone. Willets recognized a man named Mosey, who had worked in the East, and Willets told the official Mosey was a union man. Mosey came to the door presently and was met by young Alanson Brown, Paul Hogan, superintendent of the Sunlight factory, and three others. Mosey was knocked down, Willets says, and badly beaten. Brown was arrested and taken to the Seward Street Station, but was discharged the next day by Judge Kimmel in the Clark Avenue Court.

The foreman, according to Willets, noticed that Hogan had a gang of strike-breakers organized and when he returned to the American Gentleman factory he organized such a gang and sent the members out in taxis to bait the union men.

Challenges Refused.

One time, Willets says, strikebreakers in three taxis paraded up and down past the shoe workers' hall at Olive and Twenty-seventh streets, trying to goad the union men to take up their implied challenge, but they did not come out.

A saloon at Twenty-first and Locust streets catered to the union men. Willets went to a superintendent about it and offered, if he was given a gang of men, to go down there and wreck the place. The superintendent told him, he says, to take as many men as he wanted and go as far as he liked.

He took nine men and went to the saloon, but the men got "cold feet," he says, and nothing was done. He carried a black jack at that time. Afterward he was arrested at Jefferson avenue and Locust street and the black jack was found on him. His bond for $1000 was signed by Chauncey Ladd, treasurer of the Hamilton-Brown Co.

Willets said he will plead guilty, but will tell the judge that he was carrying the weapon at the instigation of his superiors, who told him, he said, that they would stand behind him if he got into trouble. "I want the satisfaction," he says, "of telling how I became a thug."

Moore Jr., of the same address, as she was waiting for a car at Grand and Delmar avenues Thursday afternoon. She was knocked down and received severe contusions and is thought to have internal injuries. Moore was arrested, charged with carelessly operating an automobile. He was released on bond.

Frank Whitten of 2374 Olive street was struck by the Moore machine at the same time and was also sent to his home.

Mrs. Magirl came here Tuesday from Oklahoma with her husband, who is to fight Harry Brewer at Kansas City at the St. Louis Athletic Club next Tuesday. Magirl was training at the Business Men's Gymnasium at the time of the accident, and did not learn of it until five hours later.

PASTOR, PLANNING TO WED HEIRESS OCT. 15, IS ILL

While the Rev. Henry W. Mizner, rector of St. Stephen's Mission, lies ill with typhoid fever at St. Luke's Hospital, friends of the minister and of his fiancée, Miss Margot Postelwaite, are expressing their regret at the probable delay in their wedding. The date had been set for Oct. 15.

As if a 12 years' wooing were not long enough to wait, sickness prostrated the minister, who is the active and earnest head of the chief mission enterprise of the Episcopal Church in St. Louis.

Miss Postelwaite and her foster-mother, Mrs. George A. Castelman, recently returned from Rio Beach to the Castleman mansion at 3835 Lindell boulevard and she has been a frequent visitor at the hospital. Reports from the hospital Friday were that the minister's condition showed improvement.

The story of the clergyman's long wooing and of the contrast between the home of wealth from which the bride-elect comes, and the region of poverty where she has planned to make her home, was told in a recent article in the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine.

Mrs. Castelman, a recognized leader in St. Louis society, is the daughter of the late Philander L. Cable, who founded the Rock Island Railroad. She inherited a large share of his fortune. Having no children, she adopted Miss Postelwaite, the daughter of a family she had known in Rock Island, Ill. The young woman kept her own family name, but was treated in all ways by Mrs. Castelman as her daughter.

The Rev. Mr. Mizner came to St. Louis 14 years ago from Palmyra, Mo., and became an assistant to the dean of Christ Church Cathedral. He was from a family well known in business and social life. From the Cathedral he went to St. Stephens, at 829 Rutger street, and there became acquainted with Miss Postelwaite, who was one of a number of young women closely interested in settlement work.

Friends believe that their marriage would have taken place at least 10 years ago, but for Miss Postelwaite's devotion to her foster mother, whose need for her increased as the years went on. Mrs. Castelman and her adopted daughter made several voyages to foreign lands, and three times went around the world. Last spring the engagement of the heiress to the minister was announced. Friends believe Mrs. Castelman, divining the young woman's conflicting feelings, refused to stand longer in the way of her happiness.

Rector Mizner's home is at 602 Rutger street in the center of the district to which he ministers. In the last summer he has been much of the time at St. Stephens' in the Halls, a summer camp for poor children and their mothers, along the Meramec river. The Rev. Frederick Gowenlock has been in charge at St. Stephens' since his illness began.

Bloomington Officials Indicted.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 20.—The McLean County grand jury has reported indictments against A. L. Moore, who last week resigned as Mayor; City Marshal Fred Lang, Police Captain John Heagerty and Sgt. Edward Hensel, in connection with the inquiry into gambling and disorderly houses.

PROPOSED HOME RULE BILLS ADD TO MAYOR'S POWER

Under Them He Is to Name Police, Excise and Election Commissioners.

Home rule bills giving the Mayor the power of appointing and removing the Police, Police and Election Commissioners of St. Louis, and taking these departments absolutely out of the hands of the Governor of the State, have been prepared by former Assistant City Councilman Charles W. Bates, and are under consideration by the Executive Committee of the Business Men's League. It is expected that the bills will be approved by the League, after which they will be submitted for approval to other business organizations.

Provisions of Bills.

The general outlines of the measures, made public for the first time Friday, provide:

FIRST: For the appointment of a Police Commissioner by the Mayor to serve during the Mayor's term, at a salary of $10,000 a year.

The commissioner takes the place of the present board of five police commissioners and is empowered with absolute jurisdiction over the police department under the proposed law.

At present the Governor appoints the police commissioners of St. Louis. Under the Bates bill the police commissioner so appointed can be removed by the Mayor at his pleasure, and is subject to removal by the council for cause or by the courts as provided by law. It is provided further that the commissioner shall deposit a bond of $20,000 for the faithful performance of the duties of his office.

SECOND: The election commissioner at a Mayor of two election commissioners to replace the present board of four commissioners. One of the commissioners shall act as president of the board and the other as secretary.

One of the commissioners it is provided shall be a member of the leading political party opposed to that to which the Mayor belongs, thus insuring a bipartisan election board. This rule applies in the appointment of successors to fill vacancies as well for new terms and in no event, the bill specifies, shall both commissioners belong to, or be affiliated with the same political party. The commissioners are required to devote their whole time to their official duties. The compensation of each commissioner is fixed at $5000 a year.

$5000 for Excise Chief.

THIRD: The Mayor is authorized to appoint an Excise Commissioner at a salary of $5000 a year. As in the case of the police and excise commissioners this office is to serve during the Mayor's term of office.

The proposed home-rule laws require that the police, excise and election commissioners shall have been residents of St. Louis for at least two years preceding their appointments. The duties, powers and responsibilities of the various officials are essentially the same as those set forth in the laws now governing those offices. The new measures can be made effective, it is stated, as amendments to the present State laws governing the police, election commissioners and excise departments.

Presented by Hawes.

The home-rule program was presented to Chairman Michael and his associates in the Business Men's Executive Committee recently by Harry B. Hawes, who is chairman of the organization's State Legislative Committee.

The Executive Committee adopted the laws report committing the league to his course and employed Charles W. Bates as special counsel to draft the bills.

Soon to Be Yours The thought of opening a complete China, Glassware and Home Furnishing Store on the Main Floor, right off the street, where the goods could be handled economically, where customers could find them conveniently, was an innovation in home furnishing storekeeping. We solved it through securing a building at a very low rental, and connecting it with our own store by subway and viaduct so that our customers could take advantage of the low rent through low prices. So you may expect some great bargain news when we get to it Next Week

Two Days More of This Great Seven-Day Tailoring Sale

Tomorrow and Monday Are Your Last Opportunities to Have Your Measure Taken for $35.00

"Made-to-Order" Suits and Overcoats at $17.50.

This Sale Is a Great Success

Men are keenly appreciative of this opportunity to have their measure taken for a Suit or Overcoat and to select the material from full pieces. They know from the workman-like manner of the tailors who measure them and from the fabrics displayed that they are making a good purchase. Many order both Suit and Overcoat and very often more than one of each, so that already in five days we have taken more orders than during all seven days of any of our previous sales.

We'll Be Busy Up to the Last Hour

Last Spring more than fifty men were waiting when the doors closed on the last day, and it was 8 o'clock before all were measured. You don't want to wait in line, so come tomorrow, and the earlier you can come the better.

Choice From Fabrics of All Kinds

Here are plain colors and fancy mixtures, staple blues and grays and rich worsteds, chevots and cassimeres, a great range of all kinds from kerseys and meltons for overcoats to the most elaborate silk-mixed novelty suitings.

We Fit Men of All Weights and Sizes

Whether you are normally built or are extra stout or extra slim, have sloping shoulders or one higher than the other, have long arms or limbs or one longer than the other—it makes no difference, we guarantee to fit you. Maybe you weigh 100, 150, 200 or 300 pounds—it makes no difference, for we'll sell as gladly to the heavyweight as to the featherweight—guarantee as satisfactory a fit—and the price is the same.

Worth Double the Price

In these Suits you will find the best shrunk canvas, hand-felled collars and lapels, handmade buttonholes and fabrics that all tailors put into $35.00 Suits. We can do this because we are selling several thousand, because the makers can employ specialists, because no time is lost by "try-ons." You never wore a better Suit or Overcoat for which you paid $35.00 than these we are putting out to your order at.....

BURGARS DESERT LOOT

Two Caught in Chase; Goods Worth $18,000 Abandoned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Following a 20-minute chase over fences and rear yards in the vicinity of West Twentieth street, two men were arrested early today, charged with burglary. Five other men escaped.

The party of alleged burglars was surprised when looting the storehouse of Julius Cohen & Co., manufacturers of clocks and suits. The police found $18,000 worth of goods packed up outside the building, while inside they found seven dark lanterns, two sticks of dynamite and a fine collection of burglar tools.

AVIATOR SAVED ON LAKE

Russian's Hydroplane Blows Up at Chicago Exhibition.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Ignatz Semlinouk, a Russian aviator, with a French license, flying at the aviation meet in Grant Park, was rescued a mile out in Lake Michigan after his hydroaeroplane was blown to pieces by an explosion of the radiator, and just as he was sinking with the last remnant of the frame work.

Semlinouk was burned about the back. He was rescued by a motor boat and dragged out of the water in an exhausted condition.

JUDGES IN WEEK POKER GAMES, SAYS POLITICIAN'S WIFE

Threatens to Tell "Some Interesting Things" When Her Divorce Suit Is Tried.

CONCEALS DETAILS NOW

Says Husband Told Her Suit Would Be Useless, as He Influences Courts.

Mrs. Nellie J. Weeke, who is suing to divorce Henry L. (Hank) Weeke, Republican City Committeeman, bid club owner, saloonkeeper, professional bondsman and former member of the House of Delegates, said Friday facts concerning some interesting facts concerning prominent politicians when the divorce case is tried.

"I am not ready to discuss the situation fully at present," she told reporters, "but I can tell you that many politicians, including city and state officials, are regular patrons of poker games conducted by my husband."

"I know many interesting things about some of our judges, too, and I will tell the whole story if necessary."

Says He Boasted of Influence.

"Last January," continued Mrs. Weeke, "when my husband put me and my 3-year-old son out in the street, he had me bluffing into believing that it was useless for me to apply to a court for relief, as, he said, he could influence the judges. He boasted that he helped make judges and that no judge would dare give me a decision against him."

"One time there was a case in court that I was familiar with. He told me to watch that case and then I would realize what would happen to me if I sued him. In the presence of a prominent Republican politician he told me what the judge's opinion was going to be 30 days before the judge gave his decision. It may have been a coincidence, but it seemed queer to me."

Couldn't Get Employment.

"Everybody in this city seems to be afraid of Hank Weeke. When I separated from him I tried to get work, but no one would give me employment when they learned I was Weeke's wife. I tried stores and I tried restaurants."

"Before our separation I had no difficulty in getting any person to go on the bonds of anyone else. But now I have to sue for divorce as a pauper because none of my old acquaintances would go on my bond for the costs."

"I met them on the street and they implore me not to get them mixed up in the affair. But I have made no promise to anybody and unless I get a fair deal in these divorce proceedings I'll mix them all in it."

Mrs. Weeke is at the home of her sister, 4376 Penrose street. In her divorce petition, filed Tuesday, she alleges she was compelled to cook for "gamblers and persons of ill repute" in Weeke's gambling resorts and "so-called bid clubs" until long after midnight and clean all the dishes after the guests had gone.

Speaks of Other Women.

She also charges that Weeke frequently went home drunk, threatened to strike her, that he remained out until 2 or 3 a. m. and that he visited room-houses and other objectionable places with women. Another allegation is that he has failed to support her and her minor son by a former marriage since the separation, Aug. 12, 1911.

Is Weeke's Second Wife.

Mrs. Weeke is Weeke's second wife. His first wife divorced him in 1900 but they were remarried after a reconciliation in 1902. They separated finally in 1905.

WANTS GUARDIAN FOR HUSBAND AND DIVORCE

Wife Asserts Walbridge Romer Is Only 19 Years Old and Refuses to Support Her.

Mrs. Ella Romer, 20 years old, of 2632 Chippewa street, filed a divorce suit Friday against Walbridge Romer of 384 Minnesota avenue, and, alleging that her husband is only 19 years old, asked the court to appoint a guardian to act as Romer's best friend in answering the petition.

Mrs. Romer sets forth in the petition that she was married to Romer at Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6, 1911, believing him to be of age. She has since learned, she asserts, that Romer was born June 7, 1893. He refused to live with her or support her after the marriage, she alleges, did not call on her when she was ill and has been associating with other women, to whom he represents that he is unmarried.

BRIDE WHO WED IN SECRET ASKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Donovan Lost Place as Teacher When Marriage Became Known.

Mrs. Glorine L. Donovan, bride of less than a year, filed suit for divorce from Charles M. Donovan, Friday.

At the time of her secret marriage last November the plaintiff, then Miss Glorine Thompson, was a teacher in the O'Fallon School. When it became known last May that she was married, she was dropped from the rolls by the Board of Education.

In her petition, Mrs. Donovan alleges that her husband failed to provide for her and refused to work and that he neglected her and frequently came home intoxicated. She charges also that he associated with objectionable persons.

Mrs. Donovan is the daughter of Mrs. Sherry Thompson of 330 Green avenue.

CITY FORESTER KOENIG AND WIFE ARE RECONCILED

They Meet in Law Office, Wife Dismisses Divorce Suit Charging Neglect.

Julius Koenig, City Forester, and his wife have become reconciled. Mrs. Koenig's attorney, John E. Turner, dismissed the divorce suit she filed Aug. 27.

Turner told a reporter for the Post-Dispatch that Mr. and Mrs. Koenig met in his offices and talked over their differences with the result that a complete reconciliation was effected.

ZEPPELIN VIEWS BRITISH FLEET FROM AIRSHIP

German Sails From Hamburg to Copenhagen and Back in Twelve Hours.

HAMBURG, Sept. 20.—The German airship Hansa, with Count Zeppelin as pilot, which started from here, Thursday morning, for a flight to Copenhagen, where the British fleet is now visiting, made the journey without a hitch, but, in accordance with the promise given the Danish authorities before leaving here, Zeppelin refrained from passing over the British fleet.

After a brief stay the Hansa returned to Hamburg, having completed the journey of 375 miles in 12 hours. This is the first time a German airship has crossed the sea into foreign territory.

Warfare Put Back 1000 Years by Aeroplane, Says Cody.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Capt. S. F. Cody, who took part in the air scouting at the British army maneuvers, when interviewed on his impressions of the fiasco, said:

"The aeroplane did excellently. By means of it each commander was able to find out what the other commander's forces were doing and their position. In my opinion, the aeroplane, has thrown warfare back by a thousand years, to the time when fighting was hand-to-hand. These conditions will remain until the fighting aeroplane has been evolved. The fighting aeroplane necessarily will be a large vessel and probably will be used in action very much as the battleship is used in the present day."

"SHIN PLASTERS" STILL OUT TOTAL $15,232,093

Other Notes Held as Souvenirs Which Government Will Not Be Asked to Redeem.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—There are millions of dollars of currency outstanding, lost, destroyed or being preserved as souvenirs, which the Federal Government never will be called upon to redeem, according to a compilation of figures by the Register of the Treasury. This indicates that the Government makes a big profit on its issues of paper money.

At present $15,232,093 is outstanding of the issue of fractional currency notes, during the Civil War, known as "shin-plasters." The total issue of these notes was nearly $38,000,000. It is known that many people are saving samples of them as relics and it is probable that very few of the outstanding ones ever will be presented for redemption.

Of the nearly $1,000,000 worth of gold certificates issued during the Civil War about $30,000 is still outstanding. There is also outstanding $1,000,000 of the $100,000 issue of gold certificates of the series of 1888.

MAN, WANTED TO TELL OF $10,000 NOTE, LEAVES CITY

Grand Jury Has Heard All Other Witnesses in Gas Franchise Inquiry.

BRIEBRY PLAN DENIED

Journey's Associate Says He Knew of No Such Scheme to Pass Bill.

In its search for facts concerning the mysterious $10,000 note circulated in 1908, when natural gas bills were before the Municipal Assembly, the grand jury Friday examined C. L. Holman, vice-president and manager of the Laclede Gaslight Co., and W. D. Gibson, an attorney.

Gibson was named by Claude H. Wetmore as the man who introduced George McMullen and Thomas Adams to Wetmore, before McMullen gave Wetmore the note to be discounted. Holman's name has not heretofore been connected with the grand jury's natural gas inquiry, and it was believed that he was called merely to see whether he could make any suggestion that would aid in the inquiry.

The witness whom the grand jury now most desires to hear is Journey, who was reported Thursday to be in Danville, Ill. A Post-Dispatch reporter was unable to find any trace of Journey in Danville. He left St. Louis Wednesday, when it became known that the grand jury was investigating the note for the purpose of finding out why it was brought here, and whether it was the intention of the owners of the note to use it to aid in the passage of any franchise through the Municipal Assembly.

Big Bag of Money.
Journey was one of the applicants for a franchise to pipe natural gas from Illinois to St. Louis, and he is reported to have made several unsuccessful efforts to get the note discounted. According to Attorney Comer, who has figured in the investigation, Journey told him of having seen a bag of money, in the rooms of franchise promoters at the Maryland Hotel, and to have heard a discussion as to how much money would be required to get the vote of a certain member of the House of Delegates.

John P. Farrington, an associate of Journey in the franchise application, was one of the witnesses called before the grand jury Thursday. Reports had been circulated that Farrington was approached in 1908 by a lawyer who claimed to represent the House of Delegates combine and told that his bill could be passed for $50,000.

Not Approached, He Says.
Farrington told a Post-Dispatch reporter that no such proposition was ever made to him, and that nobody ever offered to use influence to put his bill through the Assembly. He said he never heard of the $10,000 until the recent investigation started. Farrington is a real estate dealer, with an office at 907 Chestnut street.

The witnesses who were heard by the grand jury Thursday were George V. Reynolds, legal representative of the Rodgers syndicate; Claude H. Wetmore, a former newspaper man, who was active in interest of the Illinois franchise; C. A. Cale and Guy H. Wright. The grand jury has heard, at various times, the testimony of practically everybody who was in any way connected with the natural gas bills.

No Recollection of Note.
City Treasurer Lee W. Quick, who was president of the Washington National Bank at the time when Wetmore says he took the note there to be discounted, said Friday that he had no recollection of the note. The Washington National has since been merged with the First Trust Co.

It is said the grand jury has not yet had any reliable evidence that a fund of $50,000 was brought to St. Louis in a grip, as set forth in the suit of the Thiel Detective Agency against George V. Reynolds for fees alleged to be due to detective hire for watching the supposed bootleggers.

Detectives Employed.
The Rodgers syndicate, through Reynolds, employed detectives to watch every move of the Theodore N. Barnsdall representatives in St. Louis. The detectives found that a certain "legislative agent" of the House of Delegates was keeping in very close touch with one of the legal representatives of the Barnsdall interests.

Just before the Barnsdall bill was withdrawn from the Municipal Assembly, Glenn T. Braden, who was associated with Barnsdall, gave out an interview saying that the House of Delegates had tried to hold up Barnsdall for money. Braden expressed the opinion that he and Barnsdall had gotten in with the wrong crowd in St. Louis.

Later he dissociated himself from Barnsdall, and induced several reputable business and professional men of St. Louis to join him in a further effort to get a natural gas franchise. His bill failed to pass, and he sold his extensive gas holdings in the Hogshooter fields of Oklahoma to the company supplying Kansas City with natural gas.

TREASURY SEAL OLDER THAN U. S. GOVERNMENT

Original Design Was Put in Use By Continental Congress.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The design of the seal of the Treasury of the United States in all its essential features is older than the "National Government." From the days of the confederation of the colonies down through the history of the republic, the latin motto on the seal has been "the seal of the Treasury of North America."

These interesting facts have just been developed by an investigation by the Treasury Department tracing the history of the seal. The continental congress ordered its construction Sept. 26, 1778, appointing John Witherspoon, Gouverneur Morris and R. H. Lee a committee on design. There is no record of the report of the committee, but impressions of the seal have been found as early as 1782. The original seal was continued in use until 1849, when, worn out, it was replaced by a new cut, made by Edward Stabler of Montgomery County, Md. He was directed to make a facsimile of the old seal, but there are some negligible differences. The symbols, however, are the same. There are the 13 stars, representing the 13 colonies, the scales as the emblem of justice, and keys in secular heraldry, denoting an office of state.

EMANUEL KATZ IS DEAD

Pioneer in Advertising Circles Was Born in St. Louis.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Emanuel Katz, a pioneer in advertising circles, died Wednesday night at his summer home at Far Rockaway.

Katz was born in St. Louis, 63 years ago, and received his first newspaper experience on the San Francisco Chronicle, later taking charge of the Examiner of that city under Senator George Hearst. In 1888 he came East and established an agency representing many of the leading newspapers of the country.

Benefited Many Who Had Tuberculosis

Those who suffer from Consumption are generally troubled with night sweats, fever, loss of strength and little or no appetite. Fresh air, good food and the proper care of the body are essential to a recovery, but in many cases something more is needed. Eckman's Alternative is a medicine which has been most successful in stopping night sweats, reducing fever and promoting appetite and many who have used it declare it saved their lives. Investigate what it did in this case:

Gentlemen: For four years I was troubled with cough, which gradually became worse. I had night sweats and pain in my chest. I was losing my appetite and had become so thin and weak I could not attend to my household duties. A physician pronounced my case Consumption. Not being satisfied, I was examined by the physicians of the Polyclinic Hospital. They also pronounced the disease Consumption, which was proven later by an examination of the sputum, as Tuberculosis Bacilli were found. I was ordered to a Consumptive Hospital. My nephew would not allow me to go until I had tried Eckman's Alternative. Before I had taken the medicine three weeks I had gained weight, night sweats ceased, pain in the breast relieved, cough became less and easy. My health became normal. I am in excellent health now and have been completely cured for ten years. I strongly recommend it.

(MRS.) MARY WASSON, Care, Ed. Green, 1722 S. 17th St., Philadelphia, Pa. Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles and in rebuilding the system. Does not contain potent opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by Ralston Drug Co., Wolfe-Wiley Drug Co., Judge & Delph Drug Co. and other leading druggists. Ask for book-telling of recovery and write Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa. for additional evidence.

DANGER MARK NOW PASSED

In Condition of Mrs. Hibbs, According to Advice From Morton's Gap.

"I was taken sick, and confined to my room and bed most of the time, for ten months," writes Mrs. Louise E. Hibbs, of this place. "I had ulcers and then a tumor. The second doctor who treated me, said the last chance was an operation, to remove the tumor, and when the third doctor was called in, he told me it was serious and that it was doubtful if I would recover."

"I couldn't consent to the operation, so I decided to try Cardui. When I had taken two bottles I felt better. In two months I could go about, and do light housework. Now I feel well, and the tumor is gone."

"I do heartily recommend Cardui to suffering women. I am sure it will cure."—Morton's Gap, Ky.

Cardui acts gently on the womanly organs, and has a strengthening effect on the entire constitution. For over half a century Cardui has been successfully used by many thousands of women, for numerous ailments, also as a general tonic, for building up their strength.

So if you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, or if you need a good tonic to build up your strength—don't wait longer, but do as they do—take Cardui. Begin today.

It will surely help you, as it has so many others.

FEDERATION WANTS LAWS ON CONVICT LABOR ENFORCED

State Convention at Sedalia Also Favors Home Rule and Public Ownership.

SPY SYSTEM CONDEMNED

Changes Recommended to Make the Nine-Hour Law for Women Effective.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 20.—The Missouri State Federation of Labor, at its annual convention held here, went on record, through a resolution adopted, demanding that steps be taken to enforce the provisions of convict labor law. The Federationists contend that an evasion of provisions of law has been attempted and ask that the incoming legislative committee provide funds to enforce the measure.

Indorsement of a law to provide bath houses at all coal, lead and zinc mines was given.

A motion that cities of the State have the right to adopt any kind of a government they desire with the initiative, referendum and recall, was adopted.

A resolution was introduced to have a law passed to protect workmen who may become members of organized labor. The vote of the convention was in favor of municipal ownership of all public utilities.

The convention adopted a resolution asking for a law to require that all wages be paid in money and not by check. An eight-hour law for all public utility employees was introduced, and a law to regulate the hours on all state and municipal work was recommended. A minimum wage scale also was introduced.

It was urged that a law be enacted to prohibit the "spy system." A resolution was adopted in favor of having school books printed by the State and paid for out of the school fund. The single tax measure to be voted on at the coming election was introduced through strong resolutions. Resolutions were adopted favoring woman suffrage, and an old age pension law. The nine-hour law regulating the working hours for women was discussed at length, and additional legislation was declared necessary to extend the law so as to cover all classes of woman labor except domestic.

LAD'S BICYCLE TAKEN BY 'CONFIDENCE BOYS'

Second Wheel to Be Stolen From Him Ridden Away When He Goes to Garden Pike.

As the result of meeting two "confidence men" of about his own age, David Dubach, 12 years old, of 638 Berline avenue, is looking for the second new bicycle to be stolen from him in the last two months. The theft was reported Friday by his mother, Mrs. Emerson Dubach, widow of a St. Louis lumberman.

David's health has not been good, and his physician advised him to ride a bicycle. Two months ago his mother bought him a $30 bicycle. He rode it four days. A man ran into the back yard one afternoon and rode the bicycle away.

A week ago she bought the boy a second bicycle for $25. Wednesday was the fifth day he rode it and that afternoon he made a trip on it to Delmar Garden, where he met two boys. They asked him what school he attended and then one of them wanted to ride the bicycle up and down the Pike. David let him use it and never saw it again.

300 PUPILS EARN $10,500

High School Students Tell of Vacation Work.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Sept. 20.—Three hundred Rockford High School girls and boys earned a total of $10,500 in the vacation months. The pupils made an accounting yesterday to Principal Briggs of the manner in which they had spent the summer months, the report showing that they had by no means idled their time away.

Capt. John Doyle of the football team led all the others as an individual worker. He reported having been paid $128 for his work as a member of a cement gang. Most of the girls earned their money by applying their knowledge of domestic science.

Durning-Ireland Co. Has a Run on Norfolk Suits.

The Durning-Ireland Co., 412 North Broadway, is having a big run these days on Norfolk suits for men. The firm maintains that the Norfolk style has taken a strong hold on St. Louisans, not only the young men of the city, but also among the older generation. The style has come to stay, Mr. Ireland of the firm says, and he declares that he is happy in what he terms was his oversight in having in such a large stock. Mr. Ireland adds that the demand for the "Norfolk" is unprecedented with his firm. He believes that this demand is actuated by what he terms is the "natty" appearance of the style.

The Durning-Ireland Co. is the exclusive distributor of "Sampeck" clothes in St. Louis.

TERRIBLE ITCHING AND BURNING

Scalp Eczema for About Five Years. Form of Ringworm. Thick, Rough Scale. Entirely Well After Using Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

Iberia, Mo.—"I was troubled with scalp eczema for about five years and tried everything I heard of but all of no avail. The doctors told me I would have to have my head shaved. Being a woman I hated the idea of that."

"I was told by a friend that the Cuticura Remedies would do me good. This spring I purchased two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one box of Cuticura Soap. After using one box of Cuticura Ointment I considered the cure permanent, but continued to use it to make sure and used about one-half the other box. Now I am entirely well. I also used the Cuticura Soap."

"The disease began on the back of my head, taking the form of a ringworm only more severe, rising to a thick, rough scale that would come off when soaked with oil or warm water, bringing a few hairs each time, but in a few days would form again, larger each time, and spreading until the entire back of the head was covered with the scale. This was accompanied by a terrible itching and burning sensation. Now my head is completely well and my hair growing nicely." (Signed) Mrs. O. F. Clark, Mar. 25, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 25¢ Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

VANITY BOXES FOR POLICE

Force to Be Prepared to Aid Beauty in Distress.

VENICE, Cal., Sept. 20.—To lend first aid to a beauty in distress, Chief of Police Lingo has asked the city trustees to appropriate a sufficient sum to equip a member of the police department with a "beauty box," together with such homely adjuncts as thread and needles and button hooks, so that when any woman's attire gets rumpled in the crowds which visit Venice she may be set to rights by the nearest policeman.

The Chief asked the trustees that $2 be allowed each policeman to carry powder, puff, mirror and hair pins, besides taking lessons in needle threading and buttoning feminine shoes. The trustees ordered the appropriation.

FIVE DIFFERENT JERRY MOYNIHANS HERE IN 41 YEARS

Lawyer for Irish "Cousins" Says He Thinks Claimants Are Confused.

ORAL TESTIMONY ENDS

Court Will Now Take Up Depositions in Contest for $64,000 Estate.

Oral testimony in the case of the claimants of the $64,000 estate of Jeremiah Moynihan, was completed before Probate Judge Holtcamp Thursday after a hearing which began 11 days ago. The court will now read the various depositions of numerous claimants who did not appear in court, and a decision is not expected before Nov. 1.

Five of Same Name.

Warren D. Isenberg, representing alleged cousins living in Ireland, went on the stand after the Public Administrator closed his case and testified about a search he made for Moynihans living in St. Louis in the last 41 years. The witness said he went to the Mercantile Library and examined the city directories for Jeremiah Moynihans from 1871 to 1912, when the Moynihan whose estate is in controversy died. There were five different Jeremiah Moynihans in that period, according to Isenberg's investigation.

He first found the Jerry, who is now claimed by more than 600 as their relative, in the directory of 1871, listing him as "J. Moynihan, laborer, Iron Mountain Railroad, no address." There was also a Jerry Moynihan, who was in the dry goods business, another was a gasfitter, another a salesman and one a watchman.

Think Them Confused.

This was in support of Isenberg's contention that many of the claimants are confusing other Jeremiah Moynihans with the reclusive. Some years the latter's name did not appear in the directory. In 1892 he was listed as living at 212 South Third street and in 1905, when his name appeared last, at 222 North Broadway.

Broker James G. Cahill and Tilton Orcutt, witnesses for the Public Administrator, testified they knew Moynihan well, but that he always was reserved regarding his relatives. According to Cahill, Moynihan mentioned that he had relatives in Ireland named Kellihers. A group of Kellihers are fighting for the estate.

RULER'S SUCCESS THREATENS THRONE

Aged Rajah of Sarawak Fears Rubber Trust or England Will Oust Him.

SINGAPORE, Sept. 20.—In his annual address to the State Council Rajah Brooke, the 83-year-old ruler of Sarawak, voiced his fear that the great prosperity of the little country would cost him his sovereignty if not his life. He spoke of the profitable administration of the rubber and pepper industries, and pledged what remained of his life and power to continue the prosperity. His speech ended with considerable emotion and those about realized that he referred to a dual danger, the least of which is that Sarawak may fall under dominion of Great Britain and the greater that the Rubber Trust will gain control. Brooke was trained as a British naval officer and resigned his commission to succeed his uncle as Rajah.

SCHMITZ & SHRODER EMPLOYEES DINED

Forty employees of the Schmitz & Snoder Co., southeast corner of Eighth street and Washington avenue, attended a dinner Thursday evening given by their employers at Fausta's. Those present included workers in the concern's St. Louis and East St. Louis stores.

It was a sort of a get-together dinner, at which the policies for the season were discussed. Everybody had a jolly time, and marked enthusiasm was shown when the firm's future business plans were outlined.

R. Schmitz Jr., noted as an after dinner speaker, acted as toastmaster. Short talks were made by R. Schmitz Sr., president of the concern; S. W. Shroder, vice-president; and Messrs. Neumeister, Gibson, Siebenstein and Aufenger.

Among those present were Messrs. Sherman, Nathanson, Harris, Greenberg, L. Wolf, Vogler, Mussler, Cornwalte, Fred Albrecht, Miller, Oscar Debus, O'Brien, Pohlmeyer, Herman Pohlmeyer, Brennecke, Hoecker, Garrison, London, Isaacson, Adler, Daxner, Pavlick, W. L. Schmitz, Ralph Shroder, Goldberg, A. J. Wolf, Bischof, Kappahin, Reinheart, Thoenes, Gettling, Klie, Poupeney and Blumberg.

SOME OF 600 CLAIMANTS FOR MOYNIHAN'S $64,000

GLEN ADONIS GILBERT of Galena, Ill., was named as sole heir in a will purported to have been made by Jerry Moynihan, acknowledging Gilbert as his son. Will rejected by Judge Holtcamp because of insufficient proof.

Benjamin Foster Moynihan of Ottawa, Canada, declares Jerry was his father, and that he wrote letters to Moynihan addressed to 2100 North Broadway in 1893. At that time, it is said, there was no residential structure on that corner. He contends that Moynihan was of German descent.

Welcome Sutcliffe Richardson says he is a nephew of the reclusive, his mother, Kate Richardson, having been Jerry's sister. Introduced alleged photo of Jerry and his mother taken together 45 years ago. When this picture was shown to Moynihan's three cousins on the stand, each said the man in the photo did not look like anyone he ever saw.

Official Returns Not Available Until Figures From All Books Are Compiled.

The number of voters who registered in the last four days was estimated Friday by Election Commissioner Kortjohn at 162,528. The returns, however, are far from complete and will be so until the figures from all the books used in the 474 precincts are compiled in grand totals.

Returns show that 10,361 men registered Thursday in 174 precincts. Tallying that average of 59% to each precinct, Kortjohn estimated the day's total registration at 27,739. Almost complete returns indicate that the first day's registration was 49,770. The estimated registration Tuesday and Wednesday is given at 48,822 and 37,907, respectively.

Official returns of the registration will not be available for several days.

'BE MAN OR MOOSE,' BEDE EXHORTATION TO VOTER ON FENCE

"Truth Teller" Trailing Roosevelt Denounces "Cowards" Afraid to Get in Fight.

HARLAN RIDICULES T. R.

Assails Colonel's Comparisons of Self With Lincoln in New Mexico Campaign.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 20.—"The fight is on. Get off the fence. Be a man or a Moose."

With this exhortation, former Congressman J. Adam Bede of Minnesota, helped to open the Republican fight in New Mexico in the wake of Theodore Roosevelt's tour here. With John Maynard Haskin of Chicago, the other "truth teller" who is trailing the Colonel, he addressed an enthusiastic audience. Bede denounced the "cowards" who are afraid to get into the fight and told his hearers that with the Roosevelt sentiment waning throughout the West, the Taft forces were marching on to victory. Then he ridiculed Roosevelt's comparisons of himself with Lincoln.

Harlan picked to pieces the Roosevelt "pretensions" and was applauded vigorously. "The close resemblance," said Bede, "between Col. Roosevelt and Abraham Lincoln was not noticed until the Colonel discovered it along with the Ten Commandments. Then it was called that he scolded Gen. Miles in public, making a disgraceful scene at the White House, which was so much like the thoughtful and considerate Lincoln."

Sorry It Wasn't Hale. "Again, when Senator Proctor of Vermont died, with whom Roosevelt had had some differences, and he was asked if he was not sorry, he replied that he was sorry it was not Senator Hale. This sounds very much like Lincoln!"

"In his book on 'The Rough Riders' he boasts of shooting a Spaniard in the back. How Lincoln would have grieved over so brave a deed!"

"On his trip down the Mississippi River with the Waterways Commission he had a pilot pre-emptorily dismissed from the service, without a hearing and for no cause whatever. Lincoln always dismissed pilots in that way!"

"Because a Government employee passed his carriage in an auto on the streets of Washington, he amended the civil service rules so that a department chief could dismiss a clerk without a hearing, and forced his dismissal under this rule that did not exist when the act was committed. Lincoln did something like that almost every morning!"

School Girl Incident. "When a school girl on horseback passed his riding party, he is said to have struck her horse an angry blow with his riding whip, frightening the animal and almost throwing the girl to the ground. Lincoln always had just such a lovely grouch as that!"

"The closest resemblance, however, was shown when Mr. Roosevelt, while President, in an article published everywhere over his own signature, charged corruption upon Gen. Tyner, who was Postmaster-General under Grant, but at this time was a subordinate in the Post-office Department. At the President's behest he was indicted in the District of Columbia. The trial dragged along two or three weeks, and I frequently saw him, feeble and more than 80 years of age, in an invalid chair, wheeling himself into the courtroom. But he was acquitted and as a free man went to his home to die."

"From his deathbed he wrote a last appeal to the President to withdraw what he had said and let him die without a stain on his name or a disgrace on his family. But Roosevelt let him die without an answer and the letter is still unanswered. That is just like Lincoln, of whom it might truthfully be said he came to preach the gospel to the poor and to heal the broken-hearted."

"One of Those Socialists." "Roosevelt says he desires to answer all questions," declared Harlan. "But that is just another bit of his posing. Time and again I have asked him and others have asked him, whether he could reconcile his attitude of unmercifulness and fraudulent contests for delegate seats in the Republican convention with the 'square deal' about which he prates so constantly."

"Instead of answering the question he cries 'Stop this!' and he expects by the mere noise of his cry to divert our attention from his attempt to steal delegate seats which he knew belonged to Mr. Taft."

"The other day at Le Grande, Ore., when an old soldier asked him to explain about George W. Perkins, the Harvester Trust and that $100,000 Standard Oil contribution, Roosevelt yelled to him, 'Shut up!' and when the man replied that he was an old soldier and had fought for his country, Roosevelt shouted, 'I know what you are. You are one of those Socialists. They are always butting in and bothering me with such questions,' and then he had the veteran put out by a policeman."

JOHN: Am glad I processed. The diamond on board of Lottis on credit is a beauty.

Strike Breaker, Recovering, Is Beaten. JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 20.—Fred Emmet of Chicago, a strike breaker, was nearly killed in a fight between strike electricians and nonunion men. He had been out of the hospital three days, recovered from another assault.

LOW SHOES SENTENCED TO BANISHMENT OCT. 1

Edict Is Sent Out by Chicago Retail Dealers' Association.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—"The bell will be rung on women's white shoes and men's Oxford's Oct. 1."

This edict was sent out last night by the Chicago Retail Shoe Dealers' Association. The dealers are solicitous for the health of the public. Also they are anxious to distribute winter's stock.

"The edict is peremptory," said J. B. Sheehan of the Shoe Dealers' Publicity Committee. "And on Oct. 1 all summer footwear must be consigned to the ash heap and be replaced with sensible and utilitarian fall weight foot covering."

"The reasons? They are many and sensible. For instance, the sudden fall changes in weather are responsible for many of the winter ills and ailments. Persons do not think how much the shoe man has to consider hygiene and health in making up styles, and very few realize what an important nerve center the ankle is and how sensitive and susceptible it is to atmospheric condition. They realize decidedly when they receive a slight blow on the ankle, or a more serious injury, like a sprain."

A Great Tonic
For the Nerves

MR. LOUIS GACHMAN.

"For about ten years I was troubled with a nervous ailment, tried many different medicines and a specialist, but could not get right. Finally I tried Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, taking a tablespoonful four times a day. I improved from the first, and today am as well as any man could be; am 46 years old and feel as though I were 20. There is nothing to equal your excellent remedy. I know, for I have had experience. I will always recommend it, as I want to help my fellowmen, and in this way do a little towards repaying you for the great good you have done me."—Louis Gachman, 327 Tayco st., Menasha, Wis.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

through its tonic and rebuilding constituents, will relieve troublesome nervous complaints by supplying the system with those vital elements which it needs to bring about a complete restoration to health.

More than half the trouble with nervous run-down people is due to faulty digestion, and this is the result of tired, unexercised muscles. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey used as directed stimulates the digestion and enables you to get vitality, energy, nerve power and strength from the food you eat.

You should have it in your home. It will prove its value in the many ordinary illnesses of a family, or for an emergency.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war.

Druggists, grocers and dealers, $1.00 a large bottle. Be sure you get Duffy's, and that the seal over the cork is intact. Substitutes and imitations are injurious. Medical booklet and doctor's advice sent free to anyone who writes.

MINERS IN UTAH
KEEP PLEDGE AND DESERT TRENCHES

Shots Are Exchanged, However, in Spite of Governor's Plea for Peaceful Methods.

BINGHAM, Utah, Sept. 20.—Sixty-two hundred men now comprise the army of mine workers made idle by the strike in the mines here Wednesday morning, and present indications are that this number will be greatly increased, unless a settlement of difficulties, which now seems remote, is brought about within the next few days. Forty-five hundred of the idle men are strikers. The remaining 1700 were forced to quit when the concentrating mills at Garfield closed for lack of ore.

The men who were fortified in trenches overlooking the mines, have remained true to their promise. Gov. Spry to give up the stronghold, but have not relaxed their vigilance on the mines. Pickets patrolled the roads leading to the mines, and early today several shots were exchanged with Deputy Sheriffs who attempted to cross the highways leading into the hills. Many of the miners and mechanics who in most part opposed the strike have left the camp, and are taking no part in the disturbances.

D. C. Jackling, general manager of the Utah Copper Co., is expected in Bingham, but no conference has been arranged between him and the miners. Some of the men said today they had advice from Salt Lake that L. G. Sklaris, an employment agent, had been engaged by the Utah Copper Co. to forward strike-breakers. The report was the more irritating as Sklaris has been made one of the issues of the strike by men who assert he dictates the employment of his countrymen by the mining companies, levies a toll on their wages, and procures the discharge of those who do not deal with him.

Gov. Spry has been told by many of the strikers that they would be willing to waive the wage demand if Sklaris was removed from camp. The alleged influence of the labor agent is denied by Assistant Manager Gemmell of the Utah Copper Co.

ST. LOUIS GIRL HURT IN WRECK IN CONNECTICUT

Miss Kate Copp, One of Four Injured When Train Hits Surrey.

STONINGTON, Conn., Sept. 20.—Miss Kate Copp of St. Louis, her cousin, Miss Emily Copp of Groton, and Mr. and Mrs. David Smith of Oakland, Cal., were injured seriously, Thursday afternoon, when a freight trolley car struck a surrey in which they were riding in North Stonington. One of Miss Kate Copp's arms was broken and she was injured internally, as was her cousin, Mrs. Smith's back was injured and some of her ribs were fractured. Smith was hurt about the head. The Smiths have a summer cottage at West Mystic.

Miss Kate Copp is a sister of Mrs. John H. McCluney, 4427 Westminster place, whose husband is president of the State National Bank of St. Louis. She resides with the McCluneys.

Mrs. McCluney told the Post-Dispatch, Friday she had received no additional details of the accident, and for that reason believed that neither of the Misses Copp was injured dangerously.

MURDER JURY DISAGREES

Man Accused of Triple Killing Is Admitted to Bail.

NOWATA, Ok., Sept. 20.—The jury in the murder case against C. L. Harkins reported at 5 p. m. yesterday for the fourth time that it could not agree and that it still stood 8 to 4 for acquittal. The jury was discharged and Judge Brown today admitted Harkins to bail, as the Oklahoma law provides that bail shall be granted in cases where a majority of the jury favors acquittal.

Harkins, 30 years old, was charged with the murder of Elsie Adams, his 15-year-old sweetheart, and Arvie and Sophronia Hurst, with whom Miss Adams lived. The girl and the man and wife were cremated in the Hurst home at Delaware the night of Feb. 8 last. Harkins just before the fire had taken Miss Adams home from church. The State Chemist testified that Miss Adams was poisoned with cyanide and that Hurst was given morphine. Miss Adams and Mrs. Hurst, who was 17 years old, were to have become mothers in a short time.

"Father John's Medicine" Rutile up my children's health and keeps them well. Mrs. E. Imhof, 321 Bentall st., Baltimore, Md. No dangerous drugs.

GOVERNOR HUNG IN EFFIGY

Pardon of Negro by Donaghey of Arkansas Is Resented.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 20.—Gov. Donaghey was hung in effigy here because of a pardon he granted to Robert Armstrong, a negro, who was twice convicted and sentenced to hang for attacking Miss Ella Harcastle, a trained nurse.

Persons who went to the post office early today saw the effigy suspended from the crossarm of a telegraph pole in a corner of the court. A placard pinned to the dummy, read: "Geo. W. Donaghey." Sheriff Beller was notified and the effigy was cut down.

3000 DRUGGISTS
TO DINE AT COST
OF $10 A PLATE

Banquet Friday Night to End Convention of the United Drug Company.

The United Drug Co. convention in the Coliseum will close Friday night with the largest, and probably the most costly, banquet ever held in St. Louis. Three thousand covers will be laid, and the cost is estimated at $10 a plate. A Boston caterer, who has served the convention in past years, obtained the contract.

A stockholders' meeting was held in the Coliseum Friday morning, to consider the question of a location for a new $700,000 laboratory. St. Louis and Kansas City are the leading competitors.

Thursday was spent at Delmar Garden, and a water carnival was held in the evening.

FIRST MOTOR LINER IS DECLARED A SUCCESS

Christian X Stops at New York on Way From New Orleans on Return to Germany.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The Christian X of the Hamburg-American line, without funnels, the first motor-driven ocean-going vessel of her kind to enter New York port, arrived here on her way to Hamburg from New Orleans, returning from her first voyage to this continent. Capt. R. Nias says the vessel is a success. She has averaged 11.01 knots an hour on this trip.

The liner has luxurious quarters for 22 first-cabin passengers, and because of this limit in accommodation is expected to become a favorite vessel with honeymoon couples.

She is 370 feet long, 53 feet beam, 9000 tons displacement and 4000 tons gross register. She is propelled by twin screws driven by two sets of Diesel explosion motors. She has a crew of 46, with 10 men in the engine room. A coal-burning ship, her size would require 20 men in the engine room. She was launched last November at Copenhagen.

274 Dead in Battle.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that a serious engagement has occurred at Berani, near the Monte Negrian frontier, between Turkish troops and rebellious Mallsort tribesmen. Fifty-seven Turks and 217 tribesmen were killed.

WHAT IS THE LIMIT?

"Details are lacking in the report," is a significant remark in a story published by the Globe-Democrat, recounting alleged Washington gossip concerning William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. The lack of decency in the story also should have been noted.

The report insinuates that the illness of Mr. McCombs is feigned and that the cause of his retirement from the committee chairmanship was some mysterious connection with police graft in New York which made it necessary to thrust him into the background. Incidentally dark intimations are thrown out touching the sources of funds for the Wilson campaign, the inference being that they must have come from police graft and gambling rackets.

It was hardly necessary for Treasurer Rolla Wells, who knows Mr. McCombs' condition and the sources of the Wilson fund, to brand the story as false. It branded itself by utter lack of "details" and of facts.

But one wonders what is the limit of partisan misrepresentation by a party organ which publishes slanderous gossip about a sick man for political effect.

All standards governing admission to the Annapolis Club are abandoned. Even those who say he borrowed platform planks from the Democrats were made eligible by the Colonel at Denver.

VILLAGE LIFE.

Rapid transit is a desideratum, of course, but the ruthless trolley must not be permitted to sweep all of the picturesque and charm from the streets.

Lovers of the artistic as well as those who delight in the simple and the quiet life must have been impressed with the genre quality of the street scene on Easton avenue Wednesday morning. In the early rush hour, when the eastbound cars were conveying the maddening crowd of toilers to their tasks, the toils of a new day also found some tawdry herds winding slowly, very slowly, over the same lane.

We refer particularly to a cow and her calf that occupied the right of way and laid an embargo upon traffic and a great city's industry. Why does a calf prefer the middle of the car track? We propound that to the oracles and sages who for centuries have pondered the problem of the chicken's possible motives for crossing the road. Whatever the really motive may be, Wednesday morning's experience proved to a considerable portion of our population that a calf does prefer the car-track, dangerous as that position might seem for the very young, even when accompanied by a faithful mother.

We are told that the Lord tempers the wind to the shorn lamb. The motorman's fear of punitive damages for willful butchery perhaps tempers the speed of a trolley for the short-haired kine. Picture an obstinate and deliberate little bossy and its placid parent with a long procession of eager but carefully restrained trolley cars creeping at their heels.

Ordinarily kine "wind" and "meander," but not so these—no deviation from the straight and narrow path of the cars. From the testimony concerning the time it took the Easton cow to make the downtown trip, we gather that industry enjoyed a well-earned breather Wednesday morning. Picture the waiting looms, the empty and silent marts. Picture the temper of the passengers. Eventually, however, it is said, the patient but whimsical beast did turn off somewhere, the journey was accomplished, and the wheels of industry resumed.

On the peaceful way down the passengers might well have philosophized upon the strides that transportation has made in St. Louis since its hamlet days, when travel was by ox-carts. We delight to dwell in fancy upon the old village scenes, the serenity of the street life, the nodding hours before rash progress had dispelled the charm. Rapid transit is all very well, but, alas, how much we have had to sacrifice to headlong metropolitan haste! Doubtless it is a good moral and a temperamental discipline for a great city to wait now and then upon the heels of a wobbly, but determined and capricious calf.

Col. Roosevelt denies Gov. Wilson's statement that the Colonel's trust regulation scheme was suggested by others. The Colonel has a bad memory. The idea was suggested by Mr. Archibald, and endorsed by practically all the trust magnates before the Industrial Commission, which was created in 1909, and repealed in 1910.

WHAT HOME RULE MEANS.

The plan under consideration by the Business Men's League to obtain home rule for St. Louis has the merit of simplicity. It does not propose an elaborate scheme of legislation, but outlines amendments to the present laws.

The vital point in the amendments is the shifting of the power to appoint Excise, Elections and Police Commissioners from the Governor to the Mayor. Provision is suggested for an Excise Commissioner, one Police Commissioner instead of four, and a bi-partisan Election Board of two members.

The power of peremptory removal by the Mayor is supplemented by the power of removal for cause to be vested in the Council, and the power of removal as provided in law by the courts.

The Post-Dispatch has inclined to the opinion that as the police are used to enforce all laws under the authority of the State, the power of removing a Police Commissioner who proves derelict or incompetent may properly be vested in the Governor. But St. Louis as a chartered city, endowed with the power of self-government, should have real home rule, not the shadow of it, as provided by the present system with regard to police, excise and elections. The people demand it, and are at least entitled to a fair trial.

The increase in the powers and responsibilities of the Mayor with regard to the enforcement of laws and regulations relating to the police, saloons and elections should awaken St. Louisans to the importance of electing men of the highest standard of character and capacity to that office. With increasing scope of self-government comes increasing responsibilities for good government. The people of St. Louis under the plan suggested, will be wholly responsible for the kind of government St. Louis will have, and for the moral and civic conditions existing under it.

The only justifiable purpose of complete home rule is to assure better government, better moral and social conditions, better opportunity to realize popular aspirations and to work out the best possible destiny for the community.

The platform of all the parties pledge the fullest measure of self-government to St. Louis. But to attain this goal it is necessary that the city enjoy freedom under the laws to adopt regulations in accord with the needs and will of the people. It would be a mockery of self-government to have the form of it to be exercised under laws which impose restrictions not in harmony with the needs of metropolitan life, the requirements of public order and morality, and the prevailing opinion of citizens.

If any effort was made by either the State or City Democratic Committees to assure a full registration no one has discovered it. Planning was as conspicuously absent in registration as in the reception to Vice-Presidential Candidate Marshall, who received himself. Apparently the local Democratic campaign is going on faith.

THE BOSTON TEAM'S HANDICAP.

Mr. Taft is going to root for the Boston team in the world's championship series.

Mr. Taft is not a good rooter. He is a sincere partisan and is sometimes an earnest advocate, but there is no case on record where his side has won against opposition.

We have only to recall the fate of his pet arbitration and reciprocity measures, for which he rooted with might and main, and we have only to compare his recommendations to Congress with the Congressional Record, to feel very dubious about the Boston team's chances.

If Mr. Taft really wants Boston to win he had better root against it as hard as he can.

Restoration of the prosperity prevailing before the Roosevelt panic of 1907-8 has been slow. There are some who assert that the Colonel's election is necessary to recovery from conditions he himself caused.

THE AGE QUESTION.

It has been discovered that many citizens do not register because they dislike to give their ages. Commissioner Kortjohn ascribes this aversion to recording ages to a fear their insurance may be invalidated. This may account for some refusals. Doubtless vanity is the cause of some refusals. Yet another reason is the modern disadvantage of age in finding business employment.

If a considerable number of men prefer to lose their voting privilege rather than disclose their ages, what will happen when women are given the suffrage?

But whatever the reason, why discourage voting by asking an unnecessary question on a point wherein so many persons are sensitive. The age for voting is fixed by law. It is necessary only to have the applicant for registration swear that he is of legal age. Many persons do not know precisely how old they are, and to require a statement under oath as to their exact age embarrasses them. Why go beyond the requirement of the law?

Now that the city actually owns the free bridge it ought to make some use of it. Why not use it as a place of detention and isolation for Frank Gerhart?

ALARMING NEW YORK CONDITIONS.

Always a pivotal State in national struggles, New York has never presented a situation more alarming to the Democrats of the rest of the country than that of this year. A State ticket named by Boss Murphy is impossible of election in the present temper of the people. The nomination by the Republicans of any candidate who can poll a considerable percentage of the vote of his own party would render the defeat of Murphy and Dix ruinous as well as certain. Not only will the formidable independent vote be alienated by a Murphy State ticket, but tens of thousands of Democrats will join tens of thousands of Republicans in supporting Mr. Strauss, the Roosevelt nominee for Governor. A Murphy State ticket means, of course, the loss of many votes to the Democratic national ticket.

If there is any lack of Democratic material, endorsement of Mr. Strauss would be a brilliant stroke. His personal strength is much greater than that of the Progressive party in the State, and would aid the movement to Democracy. But there is no lack of material in the Democratic party. The only bar to the nomination of a candidate possessing the confidence of the public is Boss Murphy.

Members of the National Committee are properly assaulting Boss Smith. Why strain at the New Jersey gnat and swallow the New York camel? Up-State Democrats in New York who are showing the sincerity of party professions by combatting boss rule are fighting a national battle. Their resistance to Boss Murphy's determination to renominate the impossible Dix is entitled to national assistance in counsel and co-operation.

Old-time State bosses of the Democratic party, and particularly Murphy of Tammany Hall, have their knives out for Woodrow Wilson. It is a conspicuous fact in contrast that no Republican bosses are drawing daggers on Taft, and no Progressive bosses are lying in wait for Roosevelt.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The City Should Own the Zoo.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The idea of Mr. Dwight Davis that the United Railways furnish the site for the new Zoo and maintain it because it would be benefited by an increased patronage is not a very liberal way of looking at the new movement. A zoo is never a money maker any more than an art museum or a public library. The only zoo owned by a street railway company in existence is at Cincinnati, and this was only taken over by the railroad people because the zoo went into the hands of a receiver and would no doubt have been closed up if the railroad people had not taken the action they did. That it is a great feeder to the street railway, there is no doubt, for it is the greatest attraction in any city.

It might be well if Mr. Davis would look into the situation and see where Paris, Berlin, London, New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia located their zoological gardens.

Beautiful Water Plants for Parks.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There are few parks in the country better adapted than Forest Park for a display of the many beautiful specimens of water plants that will thrive in our lakes, now covered with disgusting-looking algae. The Victoria tricolor, Victoria regia, both annuals, can be easily raised in the many greenhouses belonging to the city. The curvate ferax, a hardy variety of lily, sometimes six feet in diameter, and many other lilies, to say nothing of the thallus, water hyacinths, water lettuce, water poppies and the various hardy water lilies, the Egyptian lotus or sacred bean, umbrella plants, papyrus and a hundred others, all of which are exceedingly attractive.

There are a number of triangular spots, eyesores at present, throughout the city, which if turned into water gardens, would cause more happiness and prevent more crime to the dollar expended than a hundred jails would.

Suppose for a starter we try a lake on Vandeventer, between McPherson and Lindell avenues, where hundreds of thousands of people will see it and if a success try other three-cornered pieces.

St. Louis—the Knocker's Target.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"Gee, St. Louis is the rottenest town in the world!" Bright remark No. 1—very popular among former Chicagoans. "St. Louis is the hottest (climate) town on earth!" Wise remark No. 2—very popular with cheap traveling men—mostly order-takers. "St. Louis is certainly a dead town!" There is more life in Chicago on Sunday night after eleven o'clock than there is all week in St. Louis! Brilliant remark No. 3 by resident of some piking town, who took advantage of a cheap excursion rate to Chicago and stayed there almost two hours, and one you hear very often, nauseating as it may seem.

The writer of this article has traveled all over the United States and says without fear of contradiction that the above remarks are absolutely unfounded and are made by narrow minds, ignorant and prejudiced people. Every one you meet seems to have their little hammer out against St. Louis. They sympathize with you for living here. Why is this? Maybe it pays to advertise and to have press agents after all. New York gets into the limelight every day in some magazine, likewise Chicago, Boston, Kansas City, etc. To hear the remarks about Kansas City, one would actually believe it was a second Heaven. In my humble opinion St. Louis is far ahead of Kansas City in every respect. However, the residents of Kansas City and elsewhere boost it and hide their little hammer. I heard a man say today that "St. Louis was crazy with the heat" to have those pay-as-you-enter cars; it's an outrage, he said, to make you pay before entering." This knocker didn't know that St. Louis is just doing what every other city in the country has done for years, but poor old "target town" has got a little knock. The only remedy I can see is to print some booklet making comparisons, and whenever the knocker slips some slur over the plate make him ashamed of himself, as figures do not lie.

My advice to all these St. Louis haters is to take one of those 287 fast trains out of the first model union station ever built in this country, see the rest of the world, see how they live. St. Louis is after all, bury the hammer, and come back and act like men—not parrots.

Be Fair to the Auto Driver.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I am frank to acknowledge that a certain class of motorists can not be watched too closely, nor could their restrictions be too severe, but why should the multitude suffer for the few? It is a common, but erroneous, idea prevalent that all motorists are wealthy and can well afford to pay damages for any accident whether it be his fault or not and there are thousands of mercenary and unscrupulous persons who are continually inviting minor accidents and personal injuries from a selfish standpoint. The teamster will drive along the street, apparently oblivious to all conditions and the first thing you know he will swing into a side street just about the time a car is to pass and the result is a collision. Of course, the motorist is blamed, and usually pays the damages, notwithstanding the fact that the driver gave no signal of his intention to turn.

Again, take the pedestrian, he will dart across the street, neither looking to the right or left, but either "star gazing" or "admiring his shoes" and should a motorist bump into him he is ready to sue for damages immediately.

Another serious handicap the motorist has to contend with and a practice the police should regulate at once, is the small boys on roller skates. They congregate on the smooth streets, dart in and around automobiles, hang on to the fenders and tops and let the machine pull them up and down the streets. This is a very dangerous sport and should one of them get hurt, who would be blamed? Why the motorist, of course.

CHARLES L. MARTIN.

THE MENACE.

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

MR. ANTWINE ON THE TAFT HOAX.

HAVING pretty well read over everything in the postoffice, Mr. Antwine occupied a fairly comparative point of view.

"The biggest thing in this campaign," he said, "is the hoax about Taft. Taft hasn't a chance on earth, and the managers of his party know it; but to read what some of the big newspapers are printing, one would suppose that he is running like a 2-year-old, and that his prospects are improving every day. There is a good deal said about humbugs and deception, but neither of them has any place in the campaign with the effort to hide the truth about Taft. It is the biggest fake in a presidential election in 25 years. If Dr. Cook had been made chairman of the Republican National Committee, an Ananias, Munchausen or an Machiaveli were all writing editorials for the reactionary metropolitan press, the result would not be any more preposterous than it is. What the object of it can be is pretty hard to make out. The people have no intention of voting for Taft, and if they are fooled to the extent of feeling that he has any chance, they will only work the harder against him. You can take the case of Deacon Hildebrand, for instance. He has been a Republican of the Republicans, but like almost everybody else in these parts, he went out of the party when Taft was renominated. The mistake he made was in not leaving his newspaper at the same time. A Republican who has left both his party and his paper, an' every time he reads it he gets a little more petrified for fear Wilson won't win. Yesterday he felt that he ought to do something about it, an' started off on his mule to round up the county. There isn't a Taft man in the county, but he thinks there may be.

"The sensible thing to do is to judge for yourself. If you never see a man who is for Taft, how do you suppose he can be elected? He would have to have votes, an' they would have to be cast by persons having names an' homes, organs an' dimensions, an' being, in short, pretty much like ourselves. There are no such people. You can't start off on the road to-day an' meet one in twenty-four hours. Think that over. Taft is not seriously running against anybody but Debs. He may beat Debs. I say that because I know everybody in these hills, an' there isn't a man, woman or child in them for either."

The News From Hogsallow.

The Excelsior Fiddling Band has gone to drinking again. Yarn Sims says before he got big enough to know better he used to think that all the constable and latitude lines on the map were worn roads.

A contract has been let for our blacksmith and stovehouse to cut the cut the whippers of Jefferson Potlocks, and he will do the job as soon as the wind blows. The Hogsallow Postmaster is worried over the fact that the Government has just lent China about $50,000,000. He says the post-office is in need of repairs, and that there are also other ways the money could have been used at home. Miss Hester Hocks has a pinback album, and many of her admirers and ardent friends are writing verses in it for future reference. Cricket Hicks was called on to write a little rhythm of sentiment Sunday afternoon, and scribbled these touching words: "Cleanliness is next to godliness," which was a sly way he had of calling attention to his new shirt.

When cold, change the water, using cold after the first time.

For pickled onions use tender small white onions. Wipe carefully, cover with a strong brine, setting in cold place. After three days drain and cover with boiling brine. Soccer Elevens Likely to Play at Browns' Park

Sport Has Become So Popular League Officials Seek a Larger Yard for Games.

The future home of the St. Louis Soccer League will be determined at a meeting of the officials next Monday evening. The sport has become so popular that Athletic Park, which has housed the big teams for several seasons, is hardly large enough to accommodate the crowds. A bid of $2500 rental has been made for Sportman's Park, and it is probable that the teams will compete at the Browns' home. However, there is also a possibility that Col. Hodges may not care to have the crowds of the kickers cut up his pasture. In that event the soccerists will probably again play at Athletic Park, Robert Field being declared too distant in the winter time.

A bid of $2500 rental has been made for Sportman's Park, and it is probable that the teams will compete at the Browns' home. However, there is also a possibility that Col. Hodges may not care to have the crowds of the kickers cut up his pasture. In that event the soccerists will probably again play at Athletic Park, Robert Field being declared too distant in the winter time.

The champion St. Louis Soccer League will be determined at a meeting of the officials next Monday evening. The sport has become so popular that Athletic Park, which has housed the big teams for several seasons, is hardly large enough to accommodate the crowds. JOHNNY KILBANE LACKS TIMBER OF REAL CHAMPIONS

Featherweight Titleholder Fails Against a Second Rater.

By ROBERT EDGREN

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Johnny Kilbane upset all hope last night in his fight with Eddie O'Keefe. For a long time the fellows who follow boxing here in New York have been chiding Kilbane for not showing the stuff that a champion should be made of. It has been generally suspected that Johnny liked to ease through his engagements and get the money without working too hard for it.

But now it is apparent that we have been doing poor Kilbane an injustice. He hasn't been "easing through" his bouts at all. He has been doing his best.

That he did his best last night was evident to all. Poor Johnny Kilbane. His best is all too inadequate for a champion. Compared to the best, or even the worst, that such champions as Dixon, McGovern, Erne, Lavigne or Alt could deliver, it was a sad affair.

Kilbane, for all his little body and swift movements, his confident smile, based like an amateur. He could do nothing with O'Keefe, who is far from being a champion.

In fact, Bob Fitzsimmons, who sat with me at the ringside, was of the opinion, after the tenth round, that O'Keefe was the winner. I would hardly go so far as to say that, since O'Keefe, while he had the best of it in both defense and landing punches, did altogether too much holding all through the 10 rounds.

Kilbane Too Cautious. Kilbane was extremely cautious. He has a great objection of being hit. Not that I admire the type of boxer who holds his jaw out for the other man's punches and then tries to slam something back, but there is something in carrying caution to an extreme. Kilbane did just that. He was always flinching and feinting, even after he saw in the first round that O'Keefe responded with feints and no punches.

There was no drawing O'Keefe out—no making him lead when he wanted to lead, and that was always when Kilbane wasn't looking for it. He outguessed Kilbane, and after a few rounds, instead of being flustered by having a champion in front of him, O'Keefe had the champion both puzzled and uncertain what to do next, bobbing here and there with the meaningless movements of an amateur.

There were flashes—few seconds at a time—when Johnny rushed and drove in straight rights effectively. Yet even this didn't gain him any great advantage, in spite of his hard hitting for O'Keefe shook off the punches and leaning over, retaliated with solid right hooks and uppercuts that sunk into Kilbane's body.

Champion Eager to End It. Kilbane started the eighth round as if he intended to do 10 rounds of fighting in the last three minutes. He was wildly anxious to accomplish something. He pummeled O'Keefe back against the ropes and, pinning him there, searched for a clean opening through which to drive a blow. O'Keefe doubled up, covered his face with his crossed arms and, peering out through the small space between, grinned at Kilbane's exasperated efforts.

In a few seconds they were dancing around the ring. Kilbane frantically eager to do something. He put in a few straight punches, but O'Keefe, jabbing and countering hard, had the best of the mixing to the end.

Right from the start of the first round O'Keefe had a punch that Kilbane couldn't avoid. It was a straight jab, sent across with the tentative movement of a cat pawing a mouse. There was no force behind that feather-light jab, but it was rolling up points. After the first couple of rounds, when O'Keefe found that Kilbane wasn't such a man-eater after all, he put more into his jab and occasionally tried a hard right.

There was one knockdown. It was in the fifth round. O'Keefe was standing flat-footed when Johnny lifted a right into his solar plexus. O'Keefe upset, rather than knocked down, took a sudden seat on the floor. He sat there a moment, then grinned at Kilbane, stuck his tongue out and got up again.

Johnny Macgure also is trying the absent treatment. He threatened to turn Thursday, but didn't. Jack McCarthy and Fred Siah are scheduled to report Friday.

Thursday's practice consisted of tackling and falling on the ball. Coach Dennis declined to use the tackling machine, forcing his men to upset their playmates instead. As a result many of the players were left with lame knees and bruised shoulders. The delinquents—Macgure, Raitcan, Siah, McCarthy and Mackey—were indicted. Report, Dennis may begin scrimmage practice Monday.

WRAY'S COLUMN

'Twas Ever Thus.

ONE of the surest known methods of naming a world's series winner is the following: Let Hughie Fullerton analyze the chances of the clubs and deduce the probable victor. Then back the other club.

FAILED ON LAND, SATURDAY. NOTWITHSTANDING the insinuation lurking in the headline of a St. Louis paper, we wish to state positively that it is not necessary for the M. A. C. team to compete in swimming races in order to clean up.

NOW FOR SOME ATHLETES. THERE is every probability of a successful athletic meet at the Columbian Athletic Club's park Sunday. So far, 22 officials have consented to appear.

GOING DOWN. SO "Cyclone" Johnny Thompson has "come back." The remark positively originated with a man standing on the bottom.

CANT TOUCH WOOD. CHRISTY MATHEWSON declares the Giants can hit "speed." Yes, but they don't hit it hard enough, as the double defeat by Joe Wood in 1910 might indicate.

England is still there on the high seas. At least that Britton put it over his rival Saylor.

TOO GOOD FOR HIS COMPANY. EARL HAMILTON ought to have a great suit against the Browns for non-support. Earl pitches well every time he goes to the firing line now, but he wins six. Thursday Earl pitched what should have been a winning game, striking out 14 batters. But the Browns have no punch, no attack as yet to help out their slabsman. If they win a game, it's because their defense is tight up and the pitcher is at his best. That one or two runs can land a victory, so that one or two runs can land a victory.

The Browns need one .320 slugger, one .319 ditto, one of .318 and perhaps a .315 slugger or two. If you alter the first figure of these averages to two, you will approximate more nearly the attacking strength of the Browns' batting wonder.

However, we may reasonably expect a few good hitters to blow in after that 16-man draft.

DIDN'T WORRY RUBE. T O strike out 14 men and yet lose may seem humiliating to Hamilton. But Rube Waddell, on the same ball lot where Hamilton performed Thursday, once fanned 16 men—and lost the game. But Rube growl over losing? Foolish question. He howled because of not breaking the strike-out record, then held by himself.

LEAGUE LEADERS RESTING. BUILD no world's series hopes on anything the two leaders in their respective leagues have accomplished—or fail to. Boston is now through and loafing, while the Giants have such a big lead that the questionably the crafty McGraw has issued instructions to his pitchers to go slowly and waste no efforts.

With almost a month in which to rest up, it may safely be taken for granted that the contenders for the championship will go into the fray AT THEIR VERY BEST.

Therefore, Giant knockers, derive no hope from the defeat of Tereau by Cincinnati. Nor should the Red Sox unbelievers see decline of Boston in a double defeat at the hands of the Naps.

But the presence of Powell didn't increase the size of the squad any over Wednesday. As Paul Kistner, the halfback candidate, failed to report, leaving Dennis only 11 men to work with. Failure of Harry Raitcan to report as promised Thursday caused some worry in the Billikens' camp. Raitcan repeatedly has promised to don his moccasins, but none of these promises have been made good.

Johnny Macgure also is trying the absent treatment. He threatened to turn Thursday, but didn't. Jack McCarthy and Fred Siah are scheduled to report Friday.

Poor Players Make the Hard Catches; Good Fielders Make Them All Seem Easy

CUE LEAGUE MEN DRAFT RULE TO BAR "RINGERS"

Cities May Not Alter Teams of to Players Originally Submitted.

A Class A three cushion tournament has been announced for next week at Peterson's and the cueists making the best showing in this event will be picked to represent St. Louis in the National Amateur three cushion league, which will resume play early in October.

A new rule will be observed by the "magicians" in the billiard league this season. They have agreed to submit on Oct. 1 a list of names to the league president, J. A. Curtis of Boston, and to use during the season only players whose names appear on that list. Each city will nominate ten representatives, and by strictly observing the rules, there will be no chance of a "ringer" being introduced.

Prisco Merca for cueists.

The John Morgan-Joe Carney match for the three-cushion championship, which will be played in San Francisco soon, is exciting a deal of interest. Incidentally, the tip is out that Prisco will be the headquarters for all the three-cushion stars for the next two years. A big academy soon will be opened in Frisco, and arrangements have been made with De Oro, Daly, Horgan, Carney and Leon to play there, it is said. The academy game will be the most elaborate ever started in this country, and will run until after the Exposition, which will be held in 1915. This game also flourished around St. Louis during and after the World's Fair.

Maupome May Come.

Pierre Maupome, who won the championship for St. Louis in the National Amateur three cushion league in 1910, also is headed for Frisco. In a recent letter to Charley Peterson, Maupome stated that he would make Frisco his first stop and if the game there didn't look good, he'd come on East. Maupome's average of .67 for 1000 points in a recent three cushion tournament in Mexico City stamps him as championship timber.

Killing in Cue League.

Johnny Killing again will hold the Kan-City franchise in the National cue league. Killing is building a new billiard parlor which will be equipped with 20 tables. It will formally be opened on Oct. 8, when Charley Peterson will give an exhibition of fancy shots.

De Oro to Meet Sherman.

Before starting for the coast, Elfrido De Oro will defend his pool title against Frank Sherman of Washington. De Oro recently wrestled the title from Edward Ralph of Hightstown, N. Y., an unknown player who won the title in the April tournament this year.

Mathewson and Jennings to Report Big Series for the Post-Dispatch

How would you like to sit on the bench with the manager of one of the competing teams during the October games for the world's baseball title?

How would you like to be on the mound during the big series with one of the greatest pitchers known to the game, a hero of two previous championships?

How would you like to analyze through the aid of his mind and experience every move of the game and match wits with the greatest batsmen of the day?

Any fan who reads the Post-Dispatch accounts of the coming contests will enjoy this advantage.

HUGH JENNINGS...

CHRISTY MATHEWSON,

Mathewson and Jennings have been engaged to dissect the battles for Post-Dispatch readers, who will thus go to the slab with Matty and fight the battle with him; will come back to the bench and listen to McGraw, and see the inner workings of a great baseball machine in action.

That the descriptive as well as the analytical may not be neglected, Hugh Jennings, manager of three pennant winners, will tell the story of the battles from the grandstand viewpoint.

DEE WALSH IS NAMED ALL-STAR SHORTSTOP

Dee Walsh, the St. Louis boy, who was purchased from the Mobile (Southern League) team by the Browns for $1500, returned to his home Thursday. He'll probably work out with the Browns during the remainder of the season and may get a trial in some of the games.

Walsh, who is but 19 years old, added considerable weight in the South. He was picked as the shortstop of an All-Southern team by all the experts in the South.

CARSLAKE AND STANDEN NOW TIED FOR HONORS

"Browns" Carlslake, the Australian rider, lost two events in the motor cycle races at the Motordrome Thursday evening. He finished second to Albert Standen, the Oldham, in the second heat of their special series of six-mile, free-for-all, Carlslake was beaten by Wiley Gibson, the New Yorker, who made his inaugural appearance in St. Louis. Carlslake and Standen will meet in the third and final heat of their series Saturday evening.

CAYOU GOES TO CONFERENCE OF VALLEY COACHES

Washington's Football Head to Hear Interpretations of New Rules.

By W. J. O'CONNOR

Although a squad of seven kickers has been at work on Francis Field for the past week, football practice will not begin in earnest at Washington U. until Monday, which is the first registration day of the new scholastic year.

In the meantime, Coach Cayou will rush up to Des Moines, Ia., where he will attend a meeting of the Missouri Valley coaches. This meeting has been called to discuss the new rules and the effect the important changes will have. A member of the National Rules Committee will be on hand to explain the changes and give the coaches a uniform interpretation of the new code.

Cayou will be back on the job no later than Tuesday. Actual school work will begin Thursday and by that time the medical, dental, law and engineering departments will be open. A canvass of the various professional schools will be made in hope of getting a squad of 25 out for early practice.

First Game With Shortstop.

The first game of the season will be with Shurtleff, on Oct. 8. The one open date—Nov. 9—may be filled this week, if Manager Gray succeeds in switching the Drury game from Oct. 19 to Nov. 9. In that case he will bring Westminster College here for Oct. 19. Last year Westminster defeated Westminster 12-0, on a muddy field.

Pothoff, the backfield candidate, has been declared eligible, and he is among the early squad of kickers at Francis Field. Others who were out last week were: Milford, Barnes, Coste, Grimm, Gray and Bryan. Kicking and catching punts was the extent of practice.

L. C. DAVIS.

THE HEDGER.

There was a man in our town.
As cunning as a fox.
He went and put a hundred down
Upon the Boston Sox.

But when he had his money bet,
To doubt he was a prey;
And straightaway he began to fret
And bet the other way.

So, now whoever wins the flag,
This vacillating sinner
Will swell around and loudly brag:
"I bet upon the winner!"

Hamilton only fanned 14 yesterday.
Had he fanned 27 his team would have won the game as they scored two runs.

They do say that the breeze (whatever they are) out around Maxwellton are bonnie.

What profiteth a football player if he rain three yards and lose three ribs?

In the matter of umpiring, Geo. Stovall says some teams get all of the worst of it some of the time, some teams get some of the worst of it all of the time, but the Browns get all of the worst of it all of the time. Which proves that Master Stovall, in addition to being a good baseball manager, is also quite a keen observer.

MILWAUKEE AUTO RACES POSTPONED

Wauwatosa Racetrack, Sept. 20.—After waiting until nearly 3 o'clock for fair weather the Pabst and Wisconsin trophy races were postponed until Tuesday because of the wet condition of the course. It was announced, however, that the Vanderbilt race would be run tomorrow and the Grand Prix on Monday.

STOVALL TO USE AX ON THIRTEEN BROWNIES TODAY

All but Six of Men Caught in Draft Will Be Turned Back to Minors.

By CLARENCE F. LLOYD.

Thirteen or more ball players now listed as Brownies will today be notified of their transfers to minor league clubs. The wholesale reduction of this troupe from big leaguers to "bushers" will cut Manager Stovall's squad from 48 to the limited 35 athletes, as required by baseball law.

Ten of those to get the hook are players who were picked up in the drafting process last Monday. Only six of the 16 landed have been named. The others, along with some of the older Brownies, will be permitted to slip back.

The drafted players whom Stovall has decided to retain are Pitcher Levers of Los Angeles, Catcher Agnew of Vernon, Infielder Balent of Chattanooga, Outfielder Walker of Montgomery, Patterson of Oakland and Melale of Harrisburg.

Melale will not be obtained until a dispute with the Baltimore (International League) team is settled, as the Orioles claim the fly chaser.

Just what older Brownies are to go remains to be seen. A couple of catchers are slated for release, as the staff includes the following seven: Alexander, Krichell, Stephens, Crossin, Snell, McAllister and Agnew. Snell will probably be put out for a year while the Kansas City club is angling for Krichell.

The pitching staff, numbering 10 men, may stand pat, although Stovall is acquainted with the work of all but two newcomers. Levers, from the coast, and Stone, a Class D performer picked up earlier in the season.

The infield will stand a lot of trimming, as there are 11 men of that specialty now included in the ranks. That many will hardly be retained and it is probable that the list of utility men will be chopped down. Miller, Hallinan, Simon and Shumaker are included in this bunch. Walsh, Graff and Balent have not been seen here.

Hogan to "Go Back."

Young Hogan will not be forced to stand the hoots of the bleachers next season. Bill is going back to the coast, although his future Postoffice address rests between three clubs in California. Hogan's services are eagerly sought out that way. More power to you, Willie.

Including Hogan, the outfield talent numbers 10 members. One, "Bunny" Brief, is due here Friday. He has been signing the ball in great fashion in Michigan and is conceded an excellent chance to hook on as a regular. Patterson, Johnson, Walker, Meisel and Sloan will probably get trials in the spring.

New Rule a Hardship.

The new 35 limit rule is going to make it unpleasant for the managers. Heretofore when a youngster looked promising but a bit green to remain in the big show, it was possible to "plant" him in the minors a season. But under the new conditions no string attachment to a player is possible, and in the flock of 10 drafted men to be released by Manager Stovall may be a future Cobb, Matty or Wagner.

But Stovall is helpless, as he cannot retain over 35. Naturally he has picked the best looking from the bunch, but a year or two may see one of the discards develop into a wonder. That's where the sting comes.

Umpires in Poor Form.

Blaming the umpires for the loss of a game has always been a poor excuse, and criticizing the arbiters never bettered conditions. But it's to be regretted that President Ban Johnson of the American League hasn't seen some of his hired men perform behind the plate and on the bases at Sportsman's Park in the last week.

Messrs. Evans and Egan were way off their stride in last Sunday's game, while Messrs. Dinnon and O'Brien gave an exhibition of "bush" league stuff Thursday. Manager Stovall was chased for saying "Get 'em up." George McBride was permitted to remain in the game for saying something that wouldn't look good in print. That's not consistency.

Griff Out for 1913 Flag.

Clark Griffith believes he has a chance to land the 1913 American League pennant.

Did Weight Condition Scare Ray Bronson Out of Match With Brewer?

Ray Bronson, who was to have met Harry Brewer in the feature bout of the St. Louis Athletic Club show at the Coliseum Sept. 24, may have kept out of the match for other reasons than the slight injury suffered by him in a fight at Winnipeg, Canada, some days ago.

Harry Brewer, who is training at Kansas City for the bout against Bronson's substitute, Art Magirl of Oklahoma, writes the sporting editor of the Post-Dispatch that Bronson would not consent to permitting him to weigh 145 pounds at 3 o'clock.

Brewer also thinks Magirl will give him a hard fight. In part, Brewer writes: "I am training here at the Kansas City Athletic Club and I am taking no chances with Magirl, but have worked hard. I am sorry Bronson and I could not get together on the weight, but he isn't eager to meet me at 145 pounds. I weakened myself by going down to 142 for Bronson at Indianapolis, and said then that I would never do that figure again. The morning of the fight I had

CENTRAL LEAGUE PLANS TO DROP FOUR CLUBS

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 20.—At the meeting of the Central League early in October it is expected that four cities will be dropped and the league reduced to an eight-club organization. According to the plan outlined, Terre Haute, Zanesville, Akron and Canton will withdraw, leaving the circuit composed of Fort Wayne, South Bend, Grand Rapids, Dayton, Springfield, O., Wheeling, Erie and Youngstown.

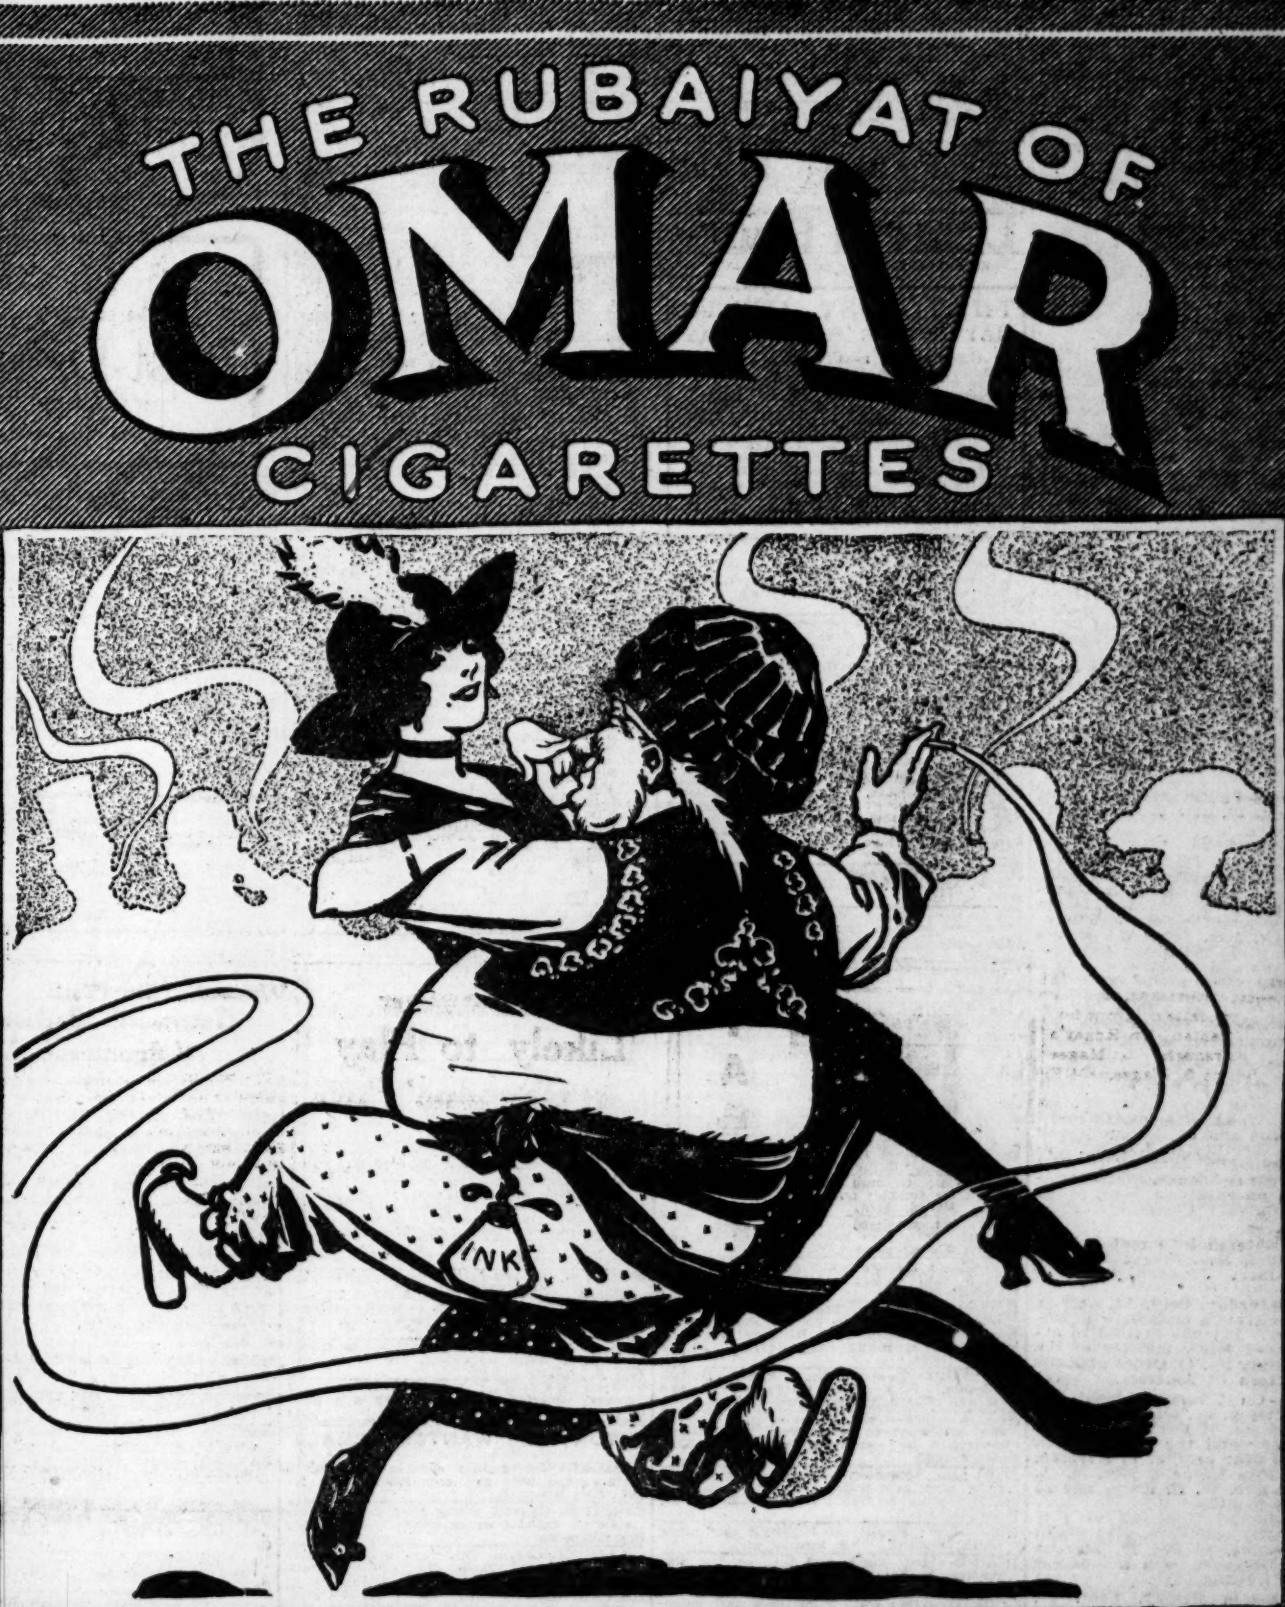

Akron and Zanesville, it is said, will not make an attempt to enter another league, but Canton expects to combine with Ohio and Pennsylvania clubs and form a new circuit. Terre Haute probably will endeavor to procure a franchise in the Three I league.

Four Inter-League Sets of Post-Season Games Scheduled to Be Played

It has been erroneously and repeatedly stated that only three post-season series will be played. The fact is, there will be four after-season clashes. The Cards and Browns in St. Louis, Sox and Cubs in Chicago, Phillies and Athletics in Philadelphia and then the big blue ribbon affair between the Red Sox and Giants. That's the program.

Millant sutfragettes and baseball managers are having their troubles. Mrs. Helene Britton, the local owner, had a hard time subduing her manager, Mr. Bresnahan. Now Mrs. Havenor, the Milwaukee owner, comes to bat with an announcement that Hugh Duffy, former boss of the White Sox, will not manage the Brewers next season. Duffy refused to accept a cut in salary and was fired.

Five hits out of six times up for Joe Jackson Thursday! The Naplan demon may yet challenge Ty Cobb for the batting honors. Speaker didn't get a hit in the first game and didn't play in the second. Hendrickson took his place in center.

ADVENTURE 3

Omar Introduces the Persian Flop

He blew into a Broadway Cabaret.
They thought him in the Show. He was, you bet,
The Whole Show when he pulled off his big Act—
First giving Each an Omar Cigarette.

With Angel Shape he Danced the Persian Flop;
You Smoke an Omar while around you Hop.
The Smoke soon Hides you—and that's just Your Game—
For if that Dance were Seen, 'twould bring a Cop.

OMAR, the new Turkish blend cigarette of exceptional quality—"like the word of a gentleman"

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says: "The market for securities was sharply today and gains of from 1 to 3 points were made in many of the active shares. Trading was broader than at any time during the week, and instead of reacting after the early advance the best prices of the day were made in the last hour."

"Such stocks as Reading, Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Lehigh Valley, St. Paul, Amalgamated Copper and United States Steel led the movement and were well taken on the advance."

"The market displayed excellent resistance throughout, and in spite of an attempt to break prices by speculators working for a decline, the upward movement continued from the opening with practically no interruption."

"Pronounced strength in the copper shares continued, and in some respects was the feature of the day. Amalgamated Copper and some of the minor issues were notably strong, some touching the highest level yet reached on this movement."

"There was an enlargement of the outside support, and while the partial reaction from the source was not impressive, it showed up better than at any time for several weeks."

"The movement seemed to be spontaneous and not based upon any special news development other than the more or less definite reports that a considerable amount of gold might be engaged in London next week for shipment to the United States."

"There was also some talk of securing gold in Paris, but nothing developed to indicate that such a movement was actually in sight."

"The foreign exchange market continued to rule at a level which made further engagements of European gold highly probable."

"The forecasts of the bank statements were favorable, the bank showing a small cash loss for the week, the net drain of currency to all quarters being estimated at $200,000, against a loss of $500,000 last week."

"This showing was much more encouraging than had been expected, and was due wholly to the fact that the banks gained heavily on the direct movement with interior institutions. That is to say, the net receipts from interior banks were some $500,000 above what they were last week."

"There was also some talk of securing gold in Paris, but nothing developed to indicate that such a movement was actually in sight."

"The foreign exchange market continued to rule at a level which made further engagements of European gold highly probable."

"The forecasts of the bank statements were favorable, the bank showing a small cash loss for the week, the net drain of currency to all quarters being estimated at $200,000, against a loss of $500,000 last week."

This showing was much more encouraging than had been expected, and was due wholly to the fact that the banks gained heavily on the direct movement with interior institutions.

That is to say, the net receipts from interior banks were some $500,000 above what they were last week.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says: "The market for securities was sharply today and gains of from 1 to 3 points were made in many of the active shares. Trading was broader than at any time during the week, and instead of reacting after the early advance the best prices of the day were made in the last hour."

"Such stocks as Reading, Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Lehigh Valley, St. Paul, Amalgamated Copper and United States Steel led the movement and were well taken on the advance."

"The market displayed excellent resistance throughout, and in spite of an attempt to break prices by speculators working for a decline, the upward movement continued from the opening with practically no interruption."

"Pronounced strength in the copper shares continued, and in some respects was the feature of the day. Amalgamated Copper and some of the minor issues were notably strong, some touching the highest level yet reached on this movement."

"There was an enlargement of the outside support, and while the partial reaction from the source was not impressive, it showed up better than at any time for several weeks."

"The movement seemed to be spontaneous and not based upon any special news development other than the more or less definite reports that a considerable amount of gold might be engaged in London next week for shipment to the United States."

"There was also some talk of securing gold in Paris, but nothing developed to indicate that such a movement was actually in sight."

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE. BY EVERYBODY.

"I see you've taken a house at Newport. Is your wife entertaining this summer?"
"Not very."

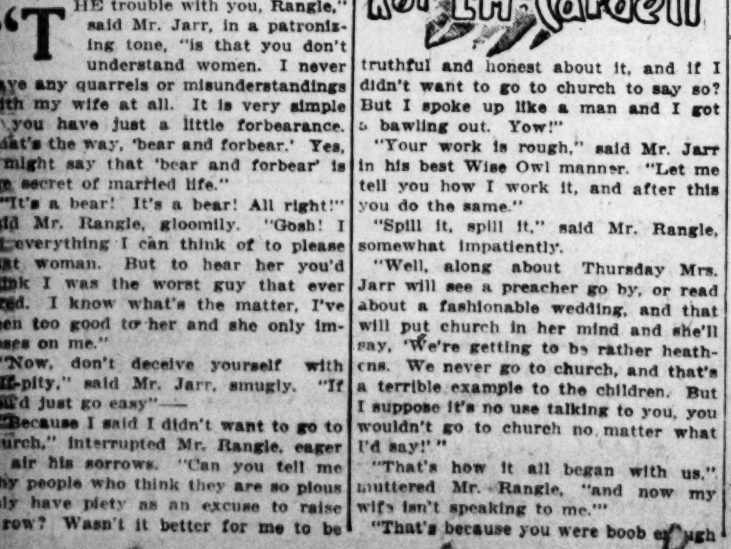

"My daughter says you want to get into the best society."
"No. Only into the highest."

to say right out you didn't want to go to church," replied Mr. Jarr. "You should have said, 'Nothing will please me better, my dear, let us go to church Sunday.'"

"What good would that do? I wouldn't go to church when the time came."

"But it would put off the row till the time came, and the chances are ten to one your wife would forget it, or she'd be expecting company Sunday, or she'd be up late Saturday night and wouldn't want to get out early to church. Anyway, always say 'Yes' to a woman, especially in the case of far-ahead propositions. By doing that it doesn't start any argument."

"Well, if I get out of this scrape I'll try your method," said Mr. Rangle. "Meanwhile, I am not going to give in; that only encourages a woman to impose on a man to the limit."

Conscious of having given advice that would prevent further discussion in his friend's home, Mr. Jarr went toward his own domicile in a calm and salutary state of mind.

"I thought you were never going to get home," began Mrs. Jarr. "You are not camping out now, please remember. And, furthermore, we are not boarding with Uncle Henry, where if one missed a meal one was saved just that much bad food fried in grease and a plague of table flies. But since we are back from the country I am making an effort to have our meals at a regular time. You know I asked you to come home early. Gertrude wants to go out tonight and I wish to get the supper over and let her go in time, so she will be in good humor for tomorrow night when we are all going out to take dinner at my mother's in Kirkwood, and I'll want Gertrude to stay in and mind the house."

"Oh, that's all right, I'll stay in and mind the house," said Mr. Jarr.

"Why, don't you want to go to my mother's with the children and me?" asked Mrs. Jarr.

"I do not!" said Mr. Jarr, very emphatically.

"That's always the way with you!" cried Mrs. Jarr. "My mother always treated you nicely! She never cared much for you, but no wonder, when you've always gone out of your way to affront her! What will she think when she invites all to come and take dinner with her?"

"And bring something to eat with us," interposed Mr. Jarr.

"Well, I'm sure you don't begrudge my taking a steak over with us, and some cake and a few other things? You and the children have such appetites!"

"Leave me out of it, because I'm not going," said Mr. Jarr.

"Why don't you go, because it is MY mother's home? Because she is of one of the best families? Because she doesn't have friends who are saloon loafers? Because I want you to? Because?"

But Mr. Jarr had grabbed his hat and rushed out.

"Where's Rangle?" he asked as he strode into Gus's.

"He telephoned his wife he was sorry about something and was coming home to take her out to a theater," said Gus. "There's a fellow knows how to get along with the vittles!"

A Doubtful Voter.

TOM MCNEAL tells of a candidate for Sheriff who was going around among the voters soliciting their votes. He had a little book with him in which he entered the names of the voters he interviewed and their politics. He came to one blunt, heavy-lashed and big-nosed man who evidently did not like him.

"Well, Mr. Jones," said the candidate, "I suppose that I can count on your support at the election?"

"Now, you can't count on my support," said Jones. "I'd rather take poison than vote for a son-of-a-gun like you."

"From the way you talk," said the candidate, as he pulled out his book, "I reckon maybe I had better put you down as somewhat doubtful."—Kansas City Star.

25 CENT "DANDERINE" FOR FALLING HAIR AND DANDRUFF—ACTS AT ONCE

Don't pay 50 cents for inferior hair tonics—Use old, reliable, harmless "Danderine"—Delightful dressing, too.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp: of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which, if not remedied, causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast.

A little Danderine tonight—now anytime—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's ADV.

Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application you will say it was the best investment you ever made. Your hair will immediately take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.
